Torture Killing Probed

Mother, Children Burned to Death

FORT WILLIAM (BUP) — Police checked every settlement along a lonely rail line northwest of Port Arthur today for a clue to the maniacal killer who assaulted a pretty 28-year-old mother, then tied her to a chair and left her to be burned alive with her two children.

Railway workers found Mrs. Hedwig Kopplin dying on the ground outside the flaming cabin. Later police found the charred bodies of her five-year-old son Reinhard and 10-month-old daughter Rita in the ruins.

Police believed the maniac reached the lonely home at Kelly Siding, 82 miles northwest of Port Arthur, by coming along the seldom-used rail line. The husband, Horst Kopplin, was working 200 miles away in Mine Centre, where he had intended to move his family next week.

They believed the killer assaulted the woman, then tied her to a chair and beat her on the head before setting fire to the cabin to hide the crime.

The children's bodies were so badly burned that police said it would be impossible to determine whether they were killed before the fire or died from the flames.

Mrs. Kopplin's hands were lashed behind her back and a burned fragment of rope was found around her neck. But after the flames burned through the ropes, she managed to stagger outside to die.

She was still alive when railwaymen who saw the flames found her, and police said the slayer might have been hiding in the bush watching at that time. But no search was made, and by the time police reached the scene he had time to get far away.

The Kopplins and their son came to Canada from Danzig after slipping into the United States zone of Germany.

"NOW DON'T KNOW"

The heartbroken husband said today, "I thought Canada was a wonderful country, but now I don't know—to do this to a defenseless woman and to children.

"I spent everything I had on this house to make a nice home for my wife and children. It's all so hopeless. You come out to Canada. You work so hard. You live like good people. You don't smoke, you don't drink. What do you get for it? Absolutely nothing.

TORONTO (CP) — Thirty-two violent deaths were reported in eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation listed 16 deaths in Ontario, nine in Quebec, five in Nova Scotia and two in Newfoundland.

LANDY IN ACTION

Landy Beats Bannister's Mile Mark

Sets Up Dream Race For Empire Games

By BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

John Landy of Australia today broke the world record for the mile and automatically set up the dream race of the century for the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

Landy ran the mile at Turku, Finland, in the time of 3.58.

The Australian thus becomes the fastest miler less than two months after Britain's Roger Bannister first broke the four-minute barrier in 3.59-4.

Landy and Bannister are both entered in the British Empire Games. The mile race at the Games takes place on August 7 in Vancouver.

Landy's time today was 1.4 seconds faster than Bannister's.

Landy also broke the world record for the metric mile (1,500 metres) when he was timed in 3.41.8 during the course of his mile run.

All records must be approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. However, in view of the ideal conditions for the race, the Finnish track authorities forsaw official acceptance when the feat is submitted for approval.

Landy's record was made in a race with Chris Chataway of Britain, the same runner who helped pace Bannister to his record run at Oxford.

'Stay Out Of Americas' Says Lodge

Soviet Veto Overcome At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council Sunday adopted a French resolution calling for an end to the Guatemalan bloodshed after the Soviet Union vetoed a proposal to refer the matter to the Inter-American Organization for consideration.

The council approved the Brazilian-Colombian resolution to refer Guatemala's complaint of aggression to the Inter-American Organization by a 10-to-1 vote but Russia's negative ballot was ruled a veto and the resolution was killed.

The proposal by France's Henri Hoppenot, which was passed unanimously, also called on all UN members to refrain from aiding any participants in the fighting.

Russia's veto on the Colombian-Brazilian resolution was her 60th since the Security Council was formed.

The voting came soon after chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denounced Russia's support of Guatemala and told the Russians to stay out of the American hemisphere.

Despite Russia's veto, it appeared certain that the Guatemalan situation will come up at sessions of the five-member inter-American peace committee, an agency of the 20-country Inter-American Organization, which is made up of North, Central and South American states.

Canada is not a member of the organization.

The peace committee—made up of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Cuba and Mexico—was set up at the 10th inter-American conference at Caracas, Venezuela, earlier this year to deal with matters concerning peace and security in the Americas.

Lodge, this month's president of the 11-country council, spoke at an urgent Sunday session called by Guatemala to demand an investigation of the invasion of that Central American country by anti-Communist "liberation forces."

SEES "DESIGNS"

Blasting a Soviet announcement that it was going to veto a resolution proposing to refer Guatemala's complaint to the IAO, Lodge said the only reason for such action would be because the Moscow government had designs on the American hemisphere.

"I say to the Soviet delegate: Stay out of the American hemisphere," Lodge said. The packed gallery applauded and he pounded for order.

Lodge addressed the council after Guatemala charged dramatically that an American aviator, not identified, crash-landed in Mexico after bombing a Guatemalan town.

Later a Guatemalan delegation aide told reporters that two Americans were in the plane and they had come down in Tapachula, Mexico, where they were interned.

Dispatches from Mexico City said authorities there knew of no Americans landing from a bombing run over Guatemala.

Lodge vigorously defended U.S. Statte Secretary Dulles against charges by Guatemala that the state department was responsible for the invasion into Guatemala. He denied the charge.

NOT AGGRESSION

"The situation does not involve aggression but is a revolt of Guatemalans against Guatemalans," Lodge said.

Guatemala demanded the council send a fact-finding mission immediately to investigate air attacks and invasion of the country.

Semyon Tsarapkin, Soviet delegate, replied that Lodge had attempted to divert attention from the aggression. He said he could prove the aggression was provoked and armed by the United States. He added the Soviet Union feels the Security Council should act against aggression anywhere, even in Central America.

REBELS SET UP 'GOVERNMENT'

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP) — Anti-Communist forces today set up a rebel government for Guatemala in an unidentified captured city.

It's leaders issued a communique stating that the invasion of the country and the march on its capital at Guatemala City by forces under command of anti-Red leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, has overrun "several important cities" and is proceeding against little opposition.

The anti-Communist junta claimed no serious armed clashes have developed, because it commands the support of 90 per cent of the Guatemalan people.

Tax Forms Not Secret Supreme Court Rules

Ottawa Loses Appeal Over B.C. Court Ruling in Vancouver Gambling Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today the courts can force the federal government to hand over confidential income tax documents.

In a unanimous decision, the nine-member bench rejected the government's appeal against a British Columbia court decision, ordering the government to produce income tax returns in connection with a Vancouver court gambling case.

The government had objected on the basis that tax returns were confidential. Making them public would prejudice the revenue department's attempts to get tax collections and honest statements from those who might be making their living from businesses which might be considered illegal.

Those who make tax returns have been told that they cannot be prosecuted because of statements they make in those returns. The government also argued that where a federal cabinet minister raises an objection to making a document public the courts should respect that decision.

The Supreme Court of Canada, whose judgment cannot be appealed, ruled that in connection with indictable offenses, the courts can order the government to produce requested documents.

Attacked in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Victoria man was in good condition in St. Paul's Hospital today following a robbery attack on a downtown street Sunday. William White told police that two unidentified men knocked him to the pavement, kicked him, and took $130 from his wallet.

5 Violent Deaths

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five violent deaths were recorded in B.C. during the week-end —three on the lower mainland. Four of the fatalities were accidents involving automobiles and the fifth was a result of domestic gas.

No 'Sell-Out' In Indo-China U.K. Assured

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winton Churchill was told today that France will not agree to any disastrous "sell-out" in Indo-China, authoritative sources said.

They said that assurance from France's new premier, Pierre Mendes-France, was given Churchill by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in his report to the prime minister on Geneva conference developments.

Later Churchill called a special meeting of his cabinet to hear Eden's report on the Far Eastern conference and his talks with the French premier.

Big 'O' Sailor Killed in Crash

A week-end pass from HMCS Ontario, Esquimalt-based cruiser, ended in death at Chilliwack Saturday when a Royal Canadian Navy rating was struck by a car and killed as he walked along the highway.

Dead is Christopher Lyle Parke of Cache Creek.

Police said he was struck by a car driven by Eddie Unger of Greendale.

HON. R. W. MAYHEW
. . . tired out

Mayhew Collapses

Strenuous pace of official duties as Canadian ambassador to Japan led to the collapse today of Hon. Robert Mayhew, and indicated that his long career in politics and government was close to an end.

Although his condition is reported as "not serious," an embassy spokesman stated "he needs several weeks' rest."

Mr. Mayhew had intended to retire in September and return to his home in Victoria. Hon. T. C. Davies, former ambassador to West Germany, has been named as his successor.

The veteran Victoria parliamentarian collapsed during funeral services for J. Del Castillo, Spanish ambassador to Japan. He is resting in the United States Army Hospital at Tokyo.

His son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Mayhew, visited him in Japan a week ago, and reported he looked "well but tired."

Bridge, Burial Meeting Set In Civic Strike

Officers of the striking Civic Employees' Protective Association were scheduled to meet with City Manager Cecil Wyatt late this afternoon to discuss provision of certain essential services affected by the five-day-old tie-up.

Ed. Duncan, secretary of the association, said the Johnson Street bridge question would be considered. It was learned from another source the matter of burials at Ross Bay cemetery was to be discussed as well.

There was no indication of the meeting going much beyond these subjects. City manager Wyatt said this morning he knew of no plans for talks on settlement. Mr. Duncan said today's meeting was primarily to discuss the bridge question but that his side would be willing to discuss any other matters which the other side might wish to raise.

Since the start of the strike last Thursday, the Johnson Street bridge has been operated on a limited hours basis by men supplied by E & N Railway.

The city wrote the union Friday to determine if it would be willing to provide a regular operator two hours each morning and two hours each afternoon until the strike terminates. The union was expected to give its answer at today's meeting.

Westcoast to Appeal U.S. Ruling on Gas

Westcoast Transmission Co. announced today it will launch an immediate appeal of the U.S. Federal Power Commission decision barring B.C. nautral gas from the northwest United States.

This was the latest development in the controversy touched off by the U.S. power commission's decision late Friday giving Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. a license to pipe gas from Colorado and New Mexico fields to Washington and Oregon.

Westcoast vice-president D. P. McDonald and president George McMahon, in joint announcement, said steps already have been taken to appeal the decision in a Philadelphia court.

B.C. government and industrial leaders, who were shaken by the commission's rejection of Westcoast, hailed the appeal announcement.

First reaction will be felt by Pacific Northwest, which will be forced to inactivity until the court hands down its ruling.

Mr. McMahon's firm contends the San Juan field, from which Pacific Northwest intends to draw its natural gas, "will provide only a trickle of the supply needed by the Pacific Northwest."

The appeal by Westcoast will also result in a suspension of any "go it alone" plans formulated by B.C. government officials.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett refused all comment on the pipeline controversy today. It was suggested Saturday by former premier Byron Johnson that B.C. enter into a contract with Westcoast so there would be no delay in gaining a gas-fired industrial development program for the province.

$1,000 PRIZE AND AID TO SOLARIUM

First Swim Estimate Coupons Appear in Times on Tuesday

The game of estimating how long Florence Chadwick will take in her swim from Victoria to Port Angeles is one that everyone can enjoy.

First coupon in the contest will appear in the Times Tuesday. It will be repeated each Tuesday and Wednesday for the seven weeks before Flo makes her attempt.

Under the plan devised by J. Carl Pendray, president of British America Paint Company, co-sponsors with the Times of the swim, the crippled children at Queen Alexandra Solarium will be the beneficiaries of the contest.

A $1,000 award to the person estimating closest to the time Miss Chadwick will be in the water has been posted. In case of ties, of course, the jackpot will be divided.

This prize has no relation whatever to the donations which estimators will make to the Solarium. Every cost in the way of advertising, promotion, prize money and administration is being absorbed by Bapco and the Times. The Solarium Junior League has agreed to sort the thousands of estimates expected and in return will get every cent of donations for their continuing task of raising the necessary funds for the hospital.

No fixed amount has been set as to the donations that estimators will make. However, the junior league has agreed that anything over $1 will be acknowledged by receipt for income tax purposes.

Florence has given her whole-hearted support to the contest and has consented to make a personal appearance at the Solarium during her training period in July.

"I know the odds are supposed to be against me making the swim," she said. "I will give it the best I have and I feel I can condition myself to the cooler temperatures of the Strait. I think Mr. Pendray's idea of an estimating contest to raise money for the Solarium is a wonderful one."

Florence will arrive in Victoria July 1 and spend almost six weeks training for the swim which is tentatively set for the second week of August, depending on weather conditions.

Gittin' so nowadays, when y' hear there's a revolution in some country y' wonder which o' its neighbors is revoltin' against it.

SUMMER IS A-COMIN' IN

Vancouver Island spread the welcome mat today for the arrival of summer, due at exactly 4 p.m., Pacific Daylight time.

As a warm-up for the appearance of the coast's favorite season, the last day of spring on Sunday brought clear skies and temperatures ranging up to 70 degrees.

But Tuesday's forecast is not too optimistic; cloudy, showers and clearing.

Canadian Shipping Protection Sought

Royal Commission to Study Foreign Ship Restrictions

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government plans to set up a royal commission on Canada's coastal shipping trade, it was learned today.

The commission, informants said, will investigate particularly the question of whether coastal shipping should be restricted to Canadian vessels as a means of encouraging Canada's shipping and shipbuilding industries.

The coastal traffic involves the haulage of goods and passengers between Canadian ports on the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards, the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

There would be no question of restricting traffic between Canadian ports and those outside this country.

At present, Commonwealth ships may enter the Canadian coastal trade freely under the 20-year-old British Commonwealth Merchant Shipping Agreement. Vessels of other countries may enter on payment of a 25 per cent duty.

SEAWAY BRINGS CHANGE

The government plans to set up a three-man royal commission to investigate the matter, developing in importance with the approach of a start on the St. Lawrence seaway, which would allow large ocean-going ships to ply the Great Lakes.

Terms of reference now are being settled, and it was expected an announcement of the commission will be made to parliament by Prime Minister St. Laurent or Transport Minister Chevrier before it prorogues late this week.

Personnel of the commission, it was expected, will consist of one man from the Maritimes, one from the west coast and one from central Canada, with the Maritimes representative as chairman.

Hensel Claims McCarthy Charges Admitted False

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Struve Hensel said Sunday Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep-Wis.) admitted early last month his charges against Hensel had no factual basis and offered to withdraw them if it could be done without making the senator appear a "damn fool."

Hensel, assistant secretary of defense who was dismissed as a principal midway in the McCarthy-army hearings, said he rejected McCarthy's offer because McCarthy refused to make public a "confession of error."

This latest postscript to the controversial inquiry was tied in with an affidavit Hensel said he had sent to Senator Karl Mundt (Rep.-S.D.), acting chairman of the investigations subcommittee, on June 16 for inclusion into the record.

Planning Board Seeks Director For $6,000 Post

Appointment of a director for the newly-created Capital Region Planning Board here is expected to be made next month.

The $6,000-a-year post is now being advertised in architectural and engineering journals in Canada, the United States and Great Britain. First meeting to consider applications is set for July 19.

Job of the Capital Region Planning Board will be to work out an over-all development pattern for Greater Victoria.

The board has a budget of $19,800 this year. The provincial government gave $10,000 and the municipalities the other $9,800. Central Saanich was asked for $200 to bring the total budget up to $20,000, but the council there decided it did not want to participate.

At present, J. W. Wilson, director of planning for the lower mainland, is on loan to the Capital Region Board, preparing a survey of the Greater Victoria area.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

Truman Good After Serious Operation

Gall Bladder, Appendix Removed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) —Former President Harry S. Truman, progressing satisfactorily after an emergency operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix, spent an "excellent night," attendants at Research Hospital reported today.

The 70-year-old former chief executive, suffering the first serious illness of his lifetime, sat in a chair briefly while his bed was being dressed Sunday.

Brig. Gen. Wallace R. Graham, who performed the surgery, was Mr. Truman's physician at the White House. He said it was "too early to tell when he'll be able to take a few steps, but it won't be today."

The former president was receiving glucose and saline solution "and a lot of other things" intravenously, Graham said, and antibiotics were being administered. He has received no blood transfusions, and "I hope he won't have to have any," the physician said.

Sunday Mr. Truman's temperature reached 101, but Graham said it was "not unusual."

"The operation was very, very serious," he said.

Vancouver Mother Of 4 Killed in Automobile Crash

SURREY, B.C. (CP) — A 29-year-old mother of four children was killed early Sunday when the car in which she was a passenger missed a highway curve and crashed through a guard rail into a ditch.

The woman, from Vancouver, was thrown from the car and crushed when it skidded on top of her. Her identity was withheld by RCMP.

The victim's husband was injured but was reported in "good" condition in hospital at New Westminster with a broken leg and internal injuries.

The driver of the car escaped unharmed although the vehicle was a total wreck.

HALIFAX MARKS 205TH ANNIVERSARY TODAY

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP)—The biggest cities of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were in holiday moods today.

Halifax celebrated its 205th anniversary today, and Saint John was marking the 350th anniversary of the discovery and naming of the Saint John River by Champlain and De Monts in 1604.

The New Brunswick holiday continues all week. Its climax comes Thursday when wreaths will be laid at the Champlain monument in Queen Square. A special exhibit will be opened at the New Brunwick museum and a parade of floats featuring historical landmarks winds through downtown Saint John.

The Halifax holiday began when ships' whistles and sirens sounded this morning. It continued with parades, sports, music, an aerial display and fireworks.

Atomic Burn Blamed For Cancer Start

Japanese Victim Was Injured in Blast Nine Years Ago; Wound Never Healed

TOKYO (AP)—The English-language Japan News today says the first recorded case of cancer as the aftermath of an atomic burn has been reported in Japan.

Immediately after the atom-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945, widespread cancer was predicted. The United States atomic bomb casualty commission conducted a series of studies using the victims of the atom bomb as subjects, but the specific findings of that group have never been fully revealed.

The first malignant growth to be diagnosed as cancer and attributed to the atom bomb was announced by Dr. Chuta Tamagawa, a pathologist at Hiroshima University.

The doctor said the victim is 64 and suffered burns on the back of the head when the atom bomb exploded nine years ago. The wound had not healed, and recently cancer was detected.

AFTER 7 YEARS

4 Children Returned To Parents

TORONTO (BUP) — A Greek dishwasher and his wife began joyous plans today for a reunion with their four children who were swallowed up behind the Iron Curtain seven years ago.

Theofilos Likopulos received word from London that top officials of the Red Cross in Canada, Russia, Romania, Hungary and Britain had succeeded in locating the children and arranging their passage to freedom.

Likopulos and his wife arrived in Canada in 1949 with little hope of ever seeing their children again. They knew all four were alive when they left Greece, but could get no answer to their requests for the children's release.

The Canadian Red Cross took on the job three years ago and finally succeeded. The children were united in London and will sail for Quebec Friday aboard the liner Scythia.

The youngest child, eight-year-old Nine, arrived in London two weeks ago from Bucharest seven years after she vanished from her home during Greek border disturbances.

The others—Donka, 16; Dimitrios, 14, and Fatimi, 12—joined her in London after a three-day train trip from Hungary. None of the children showed much emotion at the reunion.

CBC Announces Television, Radio Package for Sports and Football

TORONTO (CP)—A $500,000 deal involving television and radio rights for the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire Games at Vancouver and all Big Four Football Union games was announced Saturday by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It is the biggest in Canadian sports history.

Although the CBC did not disclose the price, it was learned authoritatively $500,000 is to be spent by the Northern Electric Co. and the National Carbon Co. Northern Electric will pay the full shot for the BE Games and the company will be joined by National Carbon in sponsoring television and radio transmission on the football.

Television coverage of the BE Games will be seen each night at 11 p.m., EDT, during the July 30-Aug. 7 period over a microwave-connected network which includes stations CBLT, Toronto; CBMT, Montreal; CFPL, London; CHCH, Hamilton, and CBOT, Ottawa. Stations not now linked on the micro-wave-connected networks, such as CBWT, Winnipeg and CKSO, Sudbury, will receive programs on film the following day.

The CBC said that transmission has been arranged by closed circuit across the United States from Seattle to Buffalo where the program will be fed into the existing CBC-TV network. Additional facilities have been ordered to link CBUT Vancouver to Seattle.

Plans haven't been completed but CBC officials said they expect to bring the Grey Cup final and semi-final to football fans across Canada by television and radio.

The Canadian Rugby Union and CBC have not signed a contract but spokesmen said that terms have been "mutually satisfactory."

Ronald Howard to Make U.S. TV Debut As Sherlock

NEW YORK (AP)—The late Leslie Howard's son Ronald is to make his American television debut next fall in the role of Sherlock Holmes.

The younger Howard, now 33, already is before the cameras in the new film series now being produced in England and France by Sheldon Reynolds.

Ronald Howard is a veteran of the London stage. He bears a close resemblance to Leslie in physical appearance, mannerisms and precise diction.

H. Marion Crawford, BBC radio and TV star, has been cast in the role of Dr. Watson, Holmes' inseparable companion in Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous detective fiction.

Reynolds says he hopes to steer clear of some of the stereotyped concepts of Sherlock Holmes that have developed through the years.

"For one thing, we'll never have Holmes saying 'it's elementary, my dear Watson'—and Doyle never wrote it, either," explains the 30-year-old producer-writer-director.

Reynolds says the new Sherlock Holmes half-hour weekly shows will be carried by the BBC as well as by U.S. and Canadian stations.

Father and Son Veterans of Two World Wars to Reminisce at Reunion Banquet Saturday

By ROY "CAP" THORSEN

A soldiers' get-together of a different kind will be held in Victoria next Saturday night.

Fathers who fought the Germans in the bloody fields of France in the First World War and sons who shouldered arms and did it all over again a score of years later will sit down to feast at Lougheed's Banquet Club and swap battlefield experiences.

The father-and-son banquet will be the closing feature on the reunion and remembrance program of Victoria's First War 48th Battalion CEF Association (3rd Canadian Pioneers.

The program this year will include a special service in solemn reverence of the battalion's dead. Veterans of action as Pioneers and infantrymen will attend the unveiling of a memorial plaque in the foyer of the Parliament Buildings at 4 p.m., June 26. Officials urge all who can possibly make it to attend the unveiling.

The father-son banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from Jack Dirom, association president, at 1231 Government.

Over 100 fathers and sons are expected. A large contingent will come from Vancouver, reports Tom Silversides, secretary-treasurer. Veterans of the 48th also may come from San Francisco and Los Angeles and State of Washington centre.

The 48th, mobolized at the former Willows race track army camp, was given a terrific Victoria send-off when they departed for Europe on June 25, 1915.

The battalion had a complete company of Victoria men, drawn from the 50th Gordon Highlanders and 88th Fusilliers.

"The boys who come home are getting less and less each year, lamented Mr. Dirom. He believes there are only between 25 or 30 original Victoria members still living. Vice-president of the association is Fraser Stamford. The committee is composed of Don Corbett, John Field, Jack Armstrong and Jack Neary.

Overseas the battalion was made into the 3rd Pioneer Battalion and went to France as such in March, 1916.

After a year in the battle lines the pioneer unit counted 723 killed or wounded. In the spring of 1917 the infantry reinforcement stream from B.C. was so poor, the old 48th was split in two and funneled to the famed "Fighting Seventh" Battalion and th 29th Battalion, both of British Columbia.

"We have no records on the battalion's casualties after the big break-up," Mr. Dirom said.

French Assault Wipes Out Reds

Union Troops Assault Important Indo-China Island Garrison

By LOUIS GUILBERT, United Press Staff Correspondent

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Hundreds of French troops made an amphibious assault on Van Coc Island in the Red River 15 miles west of Hanoi and wiped out an important Communist base for infiltrating the delta, the French high command announced today.

The assault began before dawn Sunday and fierce fighting continued today, authorities said. French Union troops reported slaying 38 Reds and capturing 39.

Naval craft packed with infantry landed on the island at 4 a.m. and seized a number of villages where Red troops were known to be hiding. Tanks and men.

The high command said the troops moved cautiously toward the villages without encountering resistance.

At 5 p.m., the high command said, hundreds of screaming Communists rushed from underground hideouts dug beneath innocent-looking bamboo huts and began fighting the French units.

More Communists jumped into sampans on the mainland and paddled fast toward the island. French gunfire sank several of them.

French warplanes roared down to dump flaming gasoline jelly and bombs on the rebel-held villages on the banks of the river.

"The operation continues today and will continue Tuesday until the region is cleaned up," the high command said.

The raid represented growing French striking power derived from regrouping trained French forces in the Red Rievr Delta into mobile "counter-punch" groups able to deliver devastating blows against enemy concentrations.

SINGAPORE (AP) — Dispatches from Saigon today said radio communication between the Indo-China capital and Bangkok had been cut off since Sunday, but Singapore's telegraphic traffic with the Thai capital was reported normal.

In London, Cable and Wireless Ltd., also reported it had received normal traffic from Bangkok today.

Sources at the Saigon post office could give no explanation for the radio break. It aroused considerable speculation there since in recent years such radio silence has several times been the first warning that a coup d'etat had overthrown the Thai government.

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Informed military sources reported today 500 Viet Minh war prisoners held by French Union forces near Saigon smashed out of their camp Saturday with the aid of savage attacks from surrounding guerrillas.

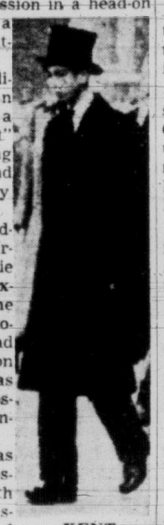
Authoritative sources said about 100 of the war prisoners were killed, wounded or recaptured but about 400 succeeded in getting free. The camp is at My Tho, about 30 miles southwest of Saigon.

Duke of Kent In Hospital After Crash

Queen's Cousin Hurt In Car Collision

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Kent, 18-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, was reported making satisfactory progress in hospital today following an automobile accident Sunday.

The young nobleman suffered a brain concussion in a head-on crash on a highway outside London.



KENT

Today's medical bulletin said he had a "good night" and is making "steady and satisfactory progress."

Britain's leading brain surgeon, Dr. Wylie McKissock, examined the duke again today. He had seen him soon after he was brought to hospital here Sunday night.

The duke was rushed to hospital here with severe concussion and head injuries after his station wagon collided with another in the Berkshire village of Sunningdale.

Visting U.S. Senator Backs McCarthy

By DICK FREEMAN

Investigation tactics of Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin may be considered unorthodox but his sincerity of purpose cannot be questioned, in the opinion of Senator Jack Tenney, representative of Los Angeles County in the California State Senate and chairman of the un-American activities committee in California.

Interviewed at Brentwood Auto Court, where he and his wife stayed overnight en route to Salt Spring Island on the week-end, Senator Tenney said: "Senator McCarthy is doing a good job. There's only one way to fight Communism and that is to fight it all the way. There can be no half measures when a country's security is at stake." He contended there was a surprisingly large element of public opinion in the States which believed McCarthy was in the right.

Senator Tenney looks upon Vancouver Island as a delightful vacation spot. He spoke in complimentary terms of the courtesy shown by officers of the Canadian customs and immigration service.

The visitor traveled over highways 101 and 99 in motoring from Los Angeles to Port Angeles.

For the next 10 days he intends to relax and enjoy fishing at Wallace Island, holiday resort off Salt Spring.

Ex-Husband Shoots Three, Kills Self In Washington

DARRINGTON, Wash. (AP)—An apparently jealous ex-husband pistol-whipped his former wife Sunday night, shot her new husband and her son, then took his own life, Snohomish County Sheriff Tom Warnock reported.

He identified the dead man as Bryan Crowe, of Arlington.

In hospital are Crowe's former wife, Delores Sylvia Morris, 40; George Morris, 48, whom she married June 11, and her son, Larry Moore, 23. Moore was shot in the abdomen and was reported in serious condition at Everett General Hospital.

PM Artful Over Rinfret Successor

OTTAWA (BUP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent artfully dodged questions in the House of Commons about the next chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) asked: "At what time today will the successor to the chief justice of the supreme court be notified of his appointment?"

"No one will be notified of an appointment to the supreme court until an appointment is made," the prime minister said. "And no one will be appointed to the supreme court today because there is no vacancy."

Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret retires Tuesday.

SENATOR EMMERSON

N.B. Senator, H. Emmerson, Dies Suddenly

DORCHESTER, N.B. (CP)—Liberal Senator Henry R. Emmerson, 70, collapsed and died of a heart attack shortly after finishing his breakfast today.

He had been in apparent good health and had attended a funeral Sunday.

His death reduced the standing in the Senate to: Liberals 77, Progressive Conservatives 7, vacant 18, total 102.

Senator Emmerson, a native of Dorchester, worked for a time as a salesman following his return from overseas service during the First World War when he reached the rank of major with the 219th battalion.

He first sought election to the House of Commons in 1926 and was defeated. He lost again in 1930 but was elected in 1935 and was re-elected in 1940 and 1946.

Senator Emmerson was named to the Upper House in 1949.

ONCE SHE CABLED QUEEN

Texan Widow Out To See the World

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Louise Cochran, the Texas tourist who caused such a commotion last year by wiring Queen Elizabeth for hotel reservations for the coronation, is off on another trip.

This time she's going around the world, as the first globe-circling passenger on the pay-later plan started recently by Pan Ameriacn World Airways.

"I paid $600 down and then I pay $63 a month for the next 20 months," Mrs. Cochran beamed. The airline is taking care of her hotel reservations this year.

"But there's just no tellin' who I might see on this trip," the peppy, 39-year-old widow said breathlessly. "I take things as they come, more or less."

Mrs. Cochran, owns her own real estate business in Houston, Tex., was scheduled to take off on a Pan American tourist flight today for London, first stop on her six-weeks' trip.

She was one of the Coronation's most famous American tourists last year, because she steadfastly insisted that Queen Elizabeth's personal secretary answered her cable asking for help in getting last minute hotel reservations.

Without rancor, since the secretary flatly denied making Mrs. Cochran's hotel reservations, the indominatable traveler still insists her story was correct, but she can understand how Buckingham Palace had to deny it in the face of so many room-less visitors.

"I stayed in Lowell Thomas' town house and I had a wonderful seat for the procession," Mrs. Cochran recalled happily. "I think she's just charmin' . . . the Queen, I mean."

Her travel philosophy includes limited luggage and unlimited courage to "go right to the head han" if you want to meet somebody important.

"Of course, I want to see Clare Boothe Luce while I'm in Rome," she said casually, during a three-day stopover here for shopping and sight seeing.

"And I want to meet the Queen of Greece. She was down home when they visited over here, but I was away at the time. They said she was as cute as she could be.

"How she'll manage these introductions, she said with a confidence that was a credit to her state, would come to her later. The cable to Queen Elizabeth was a spur-of-the-moment inspiration too.

"I guess I'll just call them up when I get there," she said thoughtfully. As a tourist-class plane passenger, Mrs. Cochran limited herself to the required 44 pounds of luggage, but she bought a cocktail dress here to take along—just in case.

NEWFOUNDLAND HOUSE ENDS WORK TUESDAY

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (BUP)—The Newfoundland legislature will be prorogued Tuesday after a stormy three-month session and a final week in which members held morning, afternoon and evening sittings to clean up their business.

At the last business meeting on Saturday, Premier Joseph Smallwood announced that a redistribution bill would be held over until the next session. This bill would create a new division of the province for election purposes after the opposition threatened a filibuster if the present arrangement were continued.

The session was stormy from start to finish. At times, the speaker had all he could do to keep order. He once threatened to leave the chair.

Union Leader Was Organizer For Rival CCL

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP) — The president of the AFL Aluminum Workers' International Union local here was instantly dismissed from his post Saturday after admitting that he was actually an organizer for a rival union.

The surprise admission was made by Wally Ross after his dual role was disclosed at the Aluminum Company of Canada project' first conciliation board hearing.

The bombshell was dropped by Walter S. Owen, Alcan counsel at the hearing, who charged that Ross was an organizer for the United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL) union.

The AFL union was certified as bargaining agent here recently following a dispute with the steel workers.

Mr. Owen told the board that by the time production started at Kitimat the project would represent an investment of $275,000,000.

"If we are to be faced with a battle between conflicting labor interests we must see that we are protected in every way possible. We don't feel we can proceed with the situation as it is unless the union is prepared to post a $500,000 bond of good conduct.

ADMITS CHARGE

After Mr. Owen accused Ross of being in the employ of the Steel Workers while posing as an AFL adherent, Ross, who a short time before had presented the Aluminum Workers' brief to the board, said: "That is quite right; I am an organizer for the Steel Workers' Union."

Said J. N. Ross of Vancouver, head of the Electrical Workers' Union and a member of the board: "I am astounded. In all my experience in the labor movement I have never heard anything like this admission.

"I think we should have an adjournment immediately while the union men here consider the situation."

After a closed meeting of the union members, an official declared: "We didn't give him a chance to resign, we kicked him out."

The surprising developments rocked this union-conscious settlement, and new weekly newspaper, The Kitimat Northern Sentinel, published its first extra edition.

Rail Workers Open Strike Vote Tuesday

9,000 in B.C. Take Part in Nation-Wide Ballot; Union Officials Urge Walkout

Victoria and Island members of non-operating railway brotherhoods will start casting ballots Tuesday in a nation-wide strike vote involving 135,000 railway workers.

With union and railway representatives still negotiating in Montreal, strike ballots have been mailed to members across the country. About 9,000 workers are involved in British Columbia.

The men who man the shops, freight yards, ofices and express services of the Canadian Pacific's E & N line and of Canadian National railways, are being asked how far they are prepared to support their demands for fringe benefits.

Branches of 14 unions across the country will collect the votes as they come in and start reporting results to the union negotiating committee at Montreal August 2, the day polling ends.

Each ballot is accompanied by six pages of text explaining what the unions want, and why. Except for hotel workers, every union that took part in the nine-day nation-wide strike of 1950 is represented.

Basic wages are not an issue. But the companies claim the men's demands for such things as longer vacations and more sick leave would cost them $60,000,000 a year if granted in full.

The workers have almost six weeks to decide whether the fringe benefits are worth another tie-up.

NO PREDICTOINS

At Montreal today, Frank Hall, chairman of the unions' negotiating committee, was non-committal about the results of the vote.

"If they vote to strike, we'll go through with it," he said. "We don't expect the vote to go one way or another yet."

Mr. Hall and other union officials have urged the workers to strike. Wednesday at a mass meeting in Montreal he said: "We must fight to the end."

"If our rightful demands are rejected this year, future contract negotiations will not have a hope of succeeding."

The call to action came the night before the unions and the railways reopened negotiations at the request of Labor Minister Gregg. These new talks still are going on, although they now stand adjourned until next week.

The unions asked for cumulative sick leave, eight paid holidays a year, three weeks paid vacation after 10 years' service, and bonus pay for Sunday work.

FRANK HALL
. . . chief negotiator

A. J. Wickens, their representative on the board, recommended seven holidays, three weeks vacation after 15 years and two weeks for hourly-rated workers after two years, and the setting up of a health and welfare plan.

Supreme Court Justice R. L. Kellock recommended three holidays, three weeks after 25 years, and a helath and welfare plan.

M. M. Porter, companies' spokesman, rejected all the demands.

Mr. Molotov's Grim Lesson

IN RETROSPECT THE RECENT strains within the alliance of the free world seem to have served their purpose. They have compelled the allies to confront again the facts which, in the last year, were temporarily disguised or denied.

No doubt Mr. Molotov imagined that by frustrating a settlement in Korea and Indo-China he was driving a wedge between the United States and Britain. Superficially he had good reason for this hopeful assumption. In the last two months a Russian observer might well have supposed that Washington and London had entered the first stages of a fatal quarrel. But as always, the Russians completely misunderstand the nature of the British and American peoples and the behaviour of free men.

The mission of Sir Winston Churchill and Mr. Eden to Washington is the clear answer to Mr. Molotov's customary tactics of division. It tells him that the disagreements among the English-speaking nations are superficial, the agreement basic, instinctive and permanent.

Actually the most recent disagreements were never as serious as they looked. It was commonly said, for example, that the United States' well-laid plans for unified action in Southeast Asia had been obstructed mainly by Britain's refusal to participate. Another dangerous myth—like the myth that the United States would have intervened in Asia when the Japanese first invaded China, but for British opposition—was hatched. The record in both cases shows that the United States itself decided not to intervene. So far as immediate intervention was concerned no basic disagreement ever occurred.

But there had been disagreement, long before the Indo-Chinese crisis developed, on the long-run aims of Russian strategy. That disagreement, however, was not between Britain and the United States. It cut across opinion in both countries.

One school of thought in both countries held that Russian strategy had never changed, that Russian strength would be concentrated successively at every point of Western weakness. The other school, in both countries, hoped that, with the passing of Stalin, Russia had learned from his mistakes and might be willing to consider at least a temporary accommodation.

Unfortunately Mr. Malenkov's first greasy smile lasted hardly overnight. But it lasted long enough to produce dangerous consequences in the free world. Last year the United States slashed its defense budget after the achievement of an uneasy Korean truce. It ordered the liquidation of three of its twenty infantry divisions. The pace of rearmament in other allied nations also slackened. The European Defense Community, on which all plans for Europe's safety depend, was allowed to moulder in the pigeon holes of Paris.

The communist drive into Indo-China should have cured these illusions. It shows that the Communist danger is as great and imminent as ever, that the balance of world power, lately shifting in Russia's favor, can be redressed only by renewed and costly effort in the free world. The menace thus proclaimed may last, as President Eisenhower says, for forty years or longer. By his performance at Geneva Mr. Molotov has informed the free peoples that they face a long, hard pull and that, in Franklin's famous phrase, they must hang together or hang separately.

That is why the leaders of the British Government are hastening to Washington and why they are eagerly awaited there by the American Government.

If the long-run need of unity and strength is obvious, the immediate requirements of the situation in Indo-China are puzzling and complicated. First there is the question of intervention in the present war.

Is it still possible to save a significant part of Indo-China by intervention at this late date, when France obviously is determined to cut its losses as soon as possible?

If the Washington conference decides against intervention, as seems probable, that will not settle the problem of Southeast Asia. Somewhere a line must be drawn across Communist expansion and somehow a joint defense system must be constructed to hold it. The major purpose at Washington presumably will be to agree on that line and to organize the proposed NATO of the Far East.

This will not be easy or cheap. It may well force a revision of defense spending in all the participating nations and an agonizing reappraisal of their strategy. But, after a few passing gestures of conciliation, the Communists have left the West no other option. They have warned us, in fact, with unintentional candor, that we cannot afford the luxury of low taxes, relaxation and easy times.

Settle It Now

THE TASK BEFORE BOTH sides in the current strike of city outside workers is to find an avenue of settlement.

Spokesmen for each faction have expressed a willingness to resume talks. They need machinery through which negotiation may be effected. That machinery can apparently be created by the appointment by the minister of labor of an inquiry commission.

The success of any such board, of course, would depend on the conciliatory attitude of both parties to the dispute. This is a time for calm judgment on each side. It is no time for a stiff-necked attitude which could prolong the work stoppage to the discomfort and danger of the community.

The difference between the council and the outside workers is not unbridgeable. A few salient points in negotiations preceding the trike disclose that fact.

The workers were originally prepared to accept the terms of settlement suggested by conciliators. The council, having rejected them, made a later attempt to avert the strike by offering terms slightly more favorable than those proposed by the board. By that time the workers had raised their minimum demands—though they called for across-the-board wage increases less than half as large as those sought in the union's first brief.

There is strong logic supporting quick settlement. The council, which enjoys the dubious distinction of being a party to the first civic strike in Victoria's memory, should be anxious to extricate itself from a position into which it should never have fallen. The mayor and aldermen were not elected to create conditions which bring vital services to a standstill.

On the other hand, the workmen can expect no increase in public sympathy if the strike continues. No matter how the taxpayer felt about the merits or otherwise of the union's action, he is not going to be swayed in favor of anyone who lets garbage pile up uncollected or declines to carry on maintenance and improvement work for which he pays. Academic distinctions and force of argument become obscured when effluvia rises from the refuse left lying around too long.

The course of common sense dictates a quick end to the strike. The longer it goes on the greater the bitterness and public offense that will be created.

Surely a Police Matter

SAANICH COUNCIL DOES NOT answer the complaints against lack of access to public beaches by talking about the behaviour of hoodlums on them. But the council does draw attention to a serious and offensive condition prevailing in some localities.

Police and court reports, as well as discussions by the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee all point up the wave of discourtesy, vandalism and rowdiness which is sweeping several resort areas. Conceivably the warning issued recently by Magistrate Hall that such conduct would draw stiffer penalties in future may discourage it. A little closer parental supervision might also help.

In the meantime, residents of the beach areas quite reasonably object to night-time hooliganism by young people who show no consideration at all for anyone else.

The solution to that problem does not seem to be denial of public beach privileges to families and children—or even the discouragement of legitimate and orderly picnic parties—by inadequate means or access. It is surely a police matter.

Provided proper control were established at the points where bad behaviour is now creating concern, the residents of such localities would have scant reason for complaint.

Washington William Tell

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

SCHOOL will soon be out, but I don't care. It takes more than that to frighten me. And for the sake of all teachers now worn to a frazzle, I am heartily glad school will be out. The world is too full of frazzles. A strange and rather horrible change comes over teachers in June, and I can't say I blame them. They've had about enough. Teachers who were kind and mild and understanding and even enthusiastic from September until May . . . these same saints and heroes go mad in June and begin to bite.

Brock

I know of a school where, early in June, it was announced that any child who got the strap during the rest of the term would not be recommended for promotion but would have to write the final exams. Would write them, you follow me, not because of his academic standing, but as a punishment for getting the strap.

THIS suggests several highly original and not very convincing theories. It suggests that getting the strap is not a punishment but a crime. It is rather like sending a man to jail on a charge of being in jail, or fining a motorist for paying a fine. It also suggests that recommendation is not a reward for studying successfully, but a reward for docility. And that writing exams is not a test of knowledge, but rather a punishment, like peeling potatoes or cracking rocks.

Finally, it suggests that delayed punishment and dual punishment are fair enough, in the mad days of June if not at other times. Oh yes, and it suggests that what may be only a mild offense in April or May becomes the vilest of cold-blooded crimes in June, so that it is impossible to hand out equal punishment for similar offenses throughout the year.

IT would be a great joke on a pupil if he had been recommended for promotion, because of his good work, and was then forced to write exams after all, because of some naughty deed prompted by June madness, and through being upset by this punishment he managed to flunk his exams after having once been recommended! Perhaps that is not very likely. But it is the sort of joke that Fate has played before now. And a boy who is either sad or sulky is not in the best frame of mind for writing exams . . . though he may do better than the boy who is scared.

I don't know if this system of refusing recommendation to June defaulters is universal throughout the province or not. I know it has been used in more than one school. If by any chance it is an invention of the Department of Education, or has the approval of that department, I would urge the department to think again, and not to fall a victim of any June madness of its own. A government office, it is true, may be out of touch with reality. But if it is out of touch with naughty little boys in June it has all the more chance of remaining sane.

DISCIPLINE AND TRAINING

SPEAKING of the almost impossible and thankless task of keeping young male devils in order, a young friend of mine told me that his teachers sometimes fail to sympathize with boys who refuse to turn Queen's Evidence and reveal the names of their accomplices. According to my young friend, a teacher can send you to the principal for refusing to squeal on your chums.

I said I didn't think the principal would do anything to a boy who refused to get his pals into trouble. He might even admire the boy, perhaps a little ruefully. My young friend said no, it would mean heavy punishment. I said "All right, then, supposing he did beat you . . . and I don't admit that he would . . . why would that be so terrible? It would be worth a beating to save your self-respect, wouldn't it?"

The boy couldn't see this. If it was a tradition in his school to hold his tongue, even if it meant a beating, then he was willing to respect that tradition. But since it was not only an order but a tradition to tell tales when ordered to tell them, he though it an unpleasant but quite usual duty to tell tales.

I CONSIDER this a mistake. Taking the problem at the lowest level, it encourages the informer to lie about the extent to which his accomplices were involved. It reduces the boys' respect for each other and for themselves. And I may be wrong, but I should think it reduces the teachers' respect for the boys and for themselves. Mind you, it is easy enough for me to talk glibly about ideals when I am not a teacher myself. And I am quite convinced that if I had to break up a serious gang involved in real crime . . . sorry, I am supposed to call it delinquency . . . then I should make the fullest use of informers and laugh at any suggestion of honor among the dishonorable. But as for trivial offenders and mere nuisances, I hope I should hesitate before inviting a prisoner to become a prosecutor. As for threatening him, rather than inviting him . . . no, surely not.

MORE BOYS

I SEEM to be talking a lot about boys. Let me tell you about a boy who spent a recent week-end at a Scout camp. He told me the place was full of field mice, and one of them died of fright. I looked dubious, and he said "Yes, truly. Steve Rimmer just hit it with a bucket and it died of fright."

SLOGANS

As Orwell pointed out, in the lexicon of totalitarianism, "Freedom is Slavery," "Ignorance is Strength," "War is Peace." In accordance with this the Communists have labelled their aggressive imperialism as "Peace." My impression of the C.C.F. was that it was interested in the furtherance of Socialism in Canada without particular emphasis on international affairs, which brings us to the question: Who was responsible for the little slogan "For Peace," which is modestly attached to the C.C.F. sign at their hall and parking place on Douglas Street?

O TEMPERATURE, O MORES

In connection with school costs, it has been brought to my attention that Canadian and American schools are kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees F. during the winter months.

However, it now appears that health authorities and educationists, in conjunction with the American Society for Heating and Ventilating Engineers, are beginning to think that this temperature is too high and that a maintained temperature of 65 degrees is not only adequate but more healthy and productive of a greater work output.

I myself have noticed that most homes in this country appear, to me, to be grossly overheated and it may well be conditioning in the homes which sets the standard for schools.

If it is established that the designed temperature can be lowered by five degrees to 65 degrees F., there is no doubt that capital savings can be made in heating installations, now a very considerable item in school costs, and also in the case of annual expense of operation.

As an amusing comparison, it should be noted that in Great Britain in 1937 the designed temperatures for school rooms was 55 to 60 F. No wonder the British are tough.

COOLER HEAD

'FATHER FORGIVE THEM'

I always read Miss Enke's column in the Times. Thursday it was more than ordinarily impressive and provided much to ponder upon.

Like Miss Enke, I have suffered too often from the unwelcome attention of peddlers of piety who annoy and persist and wear one's patience thin.

Two years ago, in the east, one of these in reply to my introductory remark: "Thank you—I am not interested. You see, I am a Catholic," came back with "I hope you have a Bible."

She shouldn't have said that. She really shouldn't. I entered the lists with a joyful shout and the joust was on.

To bring things to a close I accepted some literature, which the lady assured me was completely non-controversial and of a non-sectarian nature. She said she would return in a few weeks to have my opinion of it. I read it all right. From beginning to end it was nothing but a vituperative invective against all orthodox religions in general and the Catholic in particular.

How can people hurl insults at and offer mockery and ridicule to those tenets which they know are held sacred by so many? There was one reference to the Eucharistic, which so sickened me that I went down on my knees and repeated the words of the dying Saviour, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." Do these people expect this hatred and cruelty and malice to find favour in the eyes of the gentle Christ?

They, who profess to have the Scriptures at their finger-tips, have evidently not yet come across this passage: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and all thy soul, with all thy mind and all thy strength; and thy neighbour as thyself for His sake."

FLUORINE AND POLITICS

According to press reports of last Thursday, Attorney-General Bonner is to be congratulated on the arrival of a possible lady attorney-general of the future.

The reports state that Mr. Bonner watched the birth on television and actual delivery took 10 minutes, etc.

The report goes on to say that the attorney-general "sat among 900 doctors at the Canadian Medical convention held in Vancouver.

Now it struck me, that these 900 doctors, who recently went on record that fluorine in our water was quite the thing for British Columbia, may use their fluoronic influence on our attorney-general to state he favoured it too. But before this seed grows, may I suggest that our attorney-general will remember that the real government is the people, and that few are in favour of fluorine poison in our water. Victoria's pure water has already been spoilt, with chlorine so that one has not had a real good cup of tea since.

I believe in giving this new government a fair and good try, and there is much to be cleaned up in this province and in our parliament buildings which is wrong and wasteful. It is surprising our opposition members have not looked into these matters long ago. There has been too much talk and no do on the vital issues of our province. This condition has been going on for some time.

However, I believe people are watching things more closely, and if this government does not toe the mark, then we will have to form a new government and call it the Government Reform Party. This was partly started many years ago, by Mr. T. Guy Sheppard, but broke up I think because some did not agree, or we lacked the needful money.

Trusting the attorney-general will not let the fluorine poisoners get into him.

Why the Mess in Washington?

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

THE accidents and miscalculations which gave Mr. Truman his unexpected victory in 1948 had nothing to do with the broad historic needs or trends of the country but the consequences were far-reaching. The Democrats, though re-elected, had no genuine mandate, and in fact felt themselves on the defensive throughout Truman's second term. They never felt that they were firmly seated in the driver's seat. The Republicans, denied a term of office which they were entitled to expect, fell into the hands of their most irreconcilable and most irresponsible faction. The national Republicans were pushed aside, and the object of the party came to be fighting the Democrats without thought of how to win a national election or how to govern the country if the Republicans were elected.

Lippmann

They did win an election in 1952 but they won under the aegis of Gen. Eisenhower who was not the choice of the men who operated the party, and he has never been their accepted leader.

So after 1948, in the second Truman administration the Democrats had no genuine political mandate from the country, and they knew it. They were, moreover, divided into factions as always happens to any party which is in office too long. And opposed to them was a Republican party which was in the hands of men who had never had the responsibility for governing, who were wholly habituated to being in the opposition.

GRAVELY ENFEEBLED

We are very conscious today of the fact that the authority of the Eisenhower administration is so gravely enfeebled. But the enfeeblement of the executive began under Truman.

In fact, it would be fair to say that Eisenhower is the inheritor of a mess—the mess of executive feebleness—which he has not known how to overcome, though that is what the country hoped and believed it was electing him to do.

The Truman administration was subjected to a terrible ordeal of events which it lacked the strength and the authority to cope with. History is usually, I realize, not so precise as someone writing it makes it seem. But one might say that the ordeal which was to prove too much for the Truman administration began in September, 1949, with the news that the Soviet Union had broken the monopoly of atomic weapons.

During the following year the Truman administration made a series of catastrophic errors, all of them I believe due to its weakness. It kept the country grossly disarmed right up to the Korean War.

Though it kept the country disarmed, it ceded to Congress its constitutional right to treat the recognition of Red China as a negotiable question. It announced a defense perimeter in the Far East which appeared to abandon South Korea. It made the colossal error of authorizing MacArthur to march to the Yalu River, which was followed by the intervention of China, by a great disaster to American arms and by the creation of an almost insoluble problem of Chinese-American relations.

And in the midst of all these errors in the Far East it went ahead, without diplomatic preparation of any kind, without waiting to make peace with Germany, to demand the rearmament of Germany.

It was this putting of the cart before the horse that has endangered, perhaps ruined, the prospects of a deep and permanent Franco-German reconciliation.

For these major errors have created a condition in our policy which it will take more than one agonizing reappraisal to repair. They were all of them, I think, characteristic errors of an enfeebled executive, of one that is unsure of itself and of its mandate from the people.

RADICAL REAPPRAISAL

The end of our atomic monopoly required a radical reappraisal not only of technological policy in atomic matters—as for example in relation to the hydrogen bomb on the one hand and of tactical weapons on the other. It required also a reappraisal of the political consequences which have been enormous, the consequences to our allies, to the neutrals, to Germany and to Japan, both of them prime atomic targets, and to the uncommitted nations of Asia.

But that reappraisal required the kind of intellectual and moral courage which neither the Truman or the Eisenhower administration has possessed.

The cluster of errors in the Far East—leaving South Korea exposed, allowing our military establishment to sink to a low level, tying our hands so that we could not negotiate with Red China, getting away ahead of ourselves and our military capacities in Northern Korea—these have produced the consequences which are with us today.

It was the panic of August, 1950, for it was mere panic, that caused us to put the cart before the horse in Germany and has put our whole European policy in jeopardy.

These errors were committed because at bottom it was easier to commit them than to refrain from committing them. It was easier to say "yes" than to say "no," and so we said "yes" against the best advice of our wisest advisers.

This, subject to correction and to all the discounts on talking about what might have been, is the way I explain to myself why the mess in Washington, which existed under Truman, is certainly as great and in some ways a more dangerous mess under Eisenhower.

The Executive power, enfeebled by the misfortune of a wrong election, has created great errors of policy which the Executive is not strong enough to correct and repair. A mess can be defined as what must result when a weak Administration is faced with problems that are too big for it.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK By RUTH ENKE

A Couple of Cats---

TOOTSIE had her first batch of kittens when the cherry blossom was at its peak. She had them on the cold cement floor in a corner of the barn. And, after a single, startled, backward glance, she left them to their fate.

Ruth

One was trodden on by a cow in less than an hour. The other lingered till evening, mewing piteously and dying from sheer neglect. Tootsie never even knew. She was already out cavorting with the toms.

The whole thing was typical of Tootsie. She's a green-eyed hussy, full of sex and silliness, and with no morals whatsoever.

From the moment she took her first wobbling steps alone, her owners guessed the primrose path she'd tread. She's trodden it with a zest and enthusiasm that leave all who know her quite astonished.

Her job is to catch mice down in the barn. Only she doesn't like the barn. It soils her pretty, furry feet. She lifts them daintily, shaking them from time to time with a gesture of extreme distaste.

Mice and barns are beneath her notice. Tomcats aren't.

They've come from miles around, making the night air hideous with their yowling. In their mad passion for Tootsie, they've lost sleep, weight, fur and dignity. They've made absolute fools of themselves. Tootsie has loved it. She's sat for hours watching them and smirking her own very special smirk. And if their ardour has seemed to cool, she's sinuously paraded before them, rolling her eyes and acting as seductive as she knows how.

The tomcat who belongs to Tootsie's own household has begun to sneak indoors to get away from her. He, who used to be so aloof and independent, now leans against his owner's legs, hinting that food and quiet affection are what he wants because he's plain fed-up with passion.

But Tootsie doesn't bother. She has other beaux to choose from. They go slinking off at dusk, and Heaven knows where they spend their nights, or what time she comes in.

Her owners are wondering whether the Cat Protection people have a department for half-grown delinquent cats.

Tootsie is just the material for them, if they have.

But Sarah is quite different. A plain little thing, she has never been one for the toms. She's stayed in the barn, catching mice and the occasional rat, coming when she's called, drinking her milk sedately from the pan the farmer puts out at milking time.

She's never put on airs or tried to come into the house. To be a fine barn cat is all she asks.

But love has come to Sarah, too. It's come in the shape of a country tom who lives down the valley. For many evenings he came to visit her, saying little but watching her with eyes full of admiration for a fine farm girl.

There's been no dancing on the tiles and caterwauling. Instead, Sarah and her beau have crouched by the mousehole near the feed bin. The tom caught the mouse and Sarah saw at once that he'd be a good provider.

The whole affair was a touching rustic idyll!

And Sarah has been so good with her kittens. She had them in a little green bower beneath the plum tree. A boy and a girl, one ginger and one grey. Sarah never left them for a moment for the first two weeks. When her owners brought along a cup of milk, she'd greet them with a little welcoming cry and an upward thrust of her soft-as-silk head.

And when the weather turned showery, Sarah carried the kittens to a barrel in the barn. They're safe in there, and warm with a couple of sacks to lie on.

Sarah can leave them without worrying when she goes to catch mice. When they're a little older, she'll show them how to climb out of the barrel and along the plank that leans against it. She'll drag them back from danger, and tell them which cow likes cats and which doesn't. She'll tell them about health and hygiene and how to wash behind the ears. And when they get cheeky, she'll smack them down because she has no use for modern kitten-psychology.

What was good enough for her Mum is good enough for Sarah.

(Sorry, cat-lovers, but they're only human types in feline form.)

YOUR HEALTH By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Book on Mental Deficiency

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Cline and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many intelligent parents with a retarded child ask if there is any book which will give them a good understanding of the problem that faces them. One of the best books that I have found on the subject is by Dr. A. F. Tredgold, of England.

Dr. Alvarez

Although primarily for physicians, it is written so well and in such simple words that any intelligent person can read it from cover to cover and with interest. Every phase of the subject is well discussed.

Dr. Tredgold said that some 2 per cent of the children in American schools are mentally deficient. He emphasized what all of us should know and that is that it is most unfortunate that school laws today prescribe that all children below a certain age must go to school. Evidently, the legislators who wrote these laws hadn't the remotest idea that many children can't possibly profit by staying on for many years in school. Some can only get in the way; they just cannot learn algebra and geometry. I had a hard enough time with those subjects myself.

Some of the retarded children should have special schools, and many of the boys who cannot learn much in high school should promptly be sent to trade schools: schools where they would be taught not French and Latin, but a good trade with which they could earn a living.

TOO MUCH COLLEGE

Today there are many boys who are miserable because their parents force them to go to college. It is rough on the college authorities and it is hard on the boys. As I said a while ago, one day the taximan who was driving me confessed that he was a lawyer who had had eight years of college. Unfortunately, without an adequate personality or much forcefulness, or influential friends, his law education had been only a sorrow to him. How much better if he had been trained to be an excellent mechanic who could now be proud of the beautiful work he turns out.

It was good to see on page 436 of Dr. Tredgold's book that he advises that the parents of retarded children be quickly told the truth and all of the truth. Otherwise, as he says, they will only keep spending large amounts of money which they cannot afford on nostrums, quacks, and injections of glandular extracts. Unfortunately, also, they will get much useless treatment from reputable doctors who, because of a mistaken kindness, haven't the heart to tell the mother that no medicine will ever make over her child.

A BLUE SKIN

A woman just came in to find out why her skin has developed a ghastly blue color. She says people are always asking her if she comes from some part of the Orient.

A glance showed that she has argyria, which means that her skin is full of silver. Years ago her doctor had given her some preparation of silver to put in her nose, probably expecting her to use it for a week or two. Unfortunately, she happened to be the sort of person who is always sniffing, or fussing with her nose, or worrying about a bit of mucus that goes down the back of her throat, and so she kept dropping the silver preparation into her nose every day until now, as she says, she is a sight. Unfortunately, I fear she will always now remain blue because I never heard of anyone who got the silver out of his or her skin.

The moral of this tale is that if you want to kill yourself or make a mess of yourself go on taking a medicine, day in and day out, for months or years, after your doctor gave you enough for a few days' treatment.

STOMACH BEZOARS

A rare and interesting finding in the stomach is what is called a bezoar.

I remember a woman who was always eating a little of her hair. Eventually, she began to suffer from symptoms of ulcer, and when she was X-rayed the doctor found a mass of hair filling her stomach. This is called a trichobezoar.

Occasionally, a person will get an obstructed bowel from eating, at one sitting, too much pulp of some fruit. For instance, a young man who had spent seven days in a box car, hoboing it from east out to California, on approaching Los Angeles, jumped out and went into an orange grove, where, frantic with hunger and thirst, he ate oranges until he could hold no more. A few days later he bloated so badly he had to be operated on, and then the surgeons found that the lower end of his small bowel was packed with a mass of orange pulp.

Iowa Floods Kill 1, Hundreds Evacuated

Des Moines, Fort Dodge Emergency Points; Crop Damage Will Run Into Millions

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Iowa's flood peril extended over a widened area today as rising waters took one life and caused hundreds of evacuations.

Flood waters in this state capital drove scores of families from their homes and closed transcontinental route U.S. 2 through Des Moines.

Most of northern Iowa is polka-dotted with small lakes created by torrential rains. Crop experts said damage will run into millions in the flooded rich bottom lands. Highway and rail traffic has been interrupted at many points. One person was reported drowned during the week-end.

The north central Iowa city of Fort Dodge is among the new flood emergency points. Sioux City, in western Iowa, and Mason City, near the northern border, rode out flood crests but now face new crises.

Hostility Marks Ford, Union Parley

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A marked attitude of hostility was evident Saturday during the final hearing before a conciliation board trying to settle a contract dispute between Ford of Canada and Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL).

The board adjourned the hearing a week ago to give the union time to prepare a written reply to a sudden company demand for reduction of seniority rights. At the end of the Saturday session, Justice W. F. Schroeder of the Ontario supreme court, chairman of the board, said the board will start considering evidence June 28.

Thomas MacLean, assistant regional director for the UAW, questioned the accuracy of company figures and said decentralization was a meaningless threat.

The company statement said bargaining unit-wide or company-wide seniority was costing thousands of dollars. It was ganted in 1949 after a bitter strike. Under the agreement, on any layoff exceeding 14 days, the company must only lay off the most junior men in the whole bargaining unit.

This means men must be transferred from one department to another resulting in loss of time and material on job training. The company wants to substitute departmental seniority so men will not be forced into jobs they do not know.

Wallace Clark, vice-president for industrial relations, fired questions steadily at Mr. MacLean early in the hearing but was finally requested to make notes and speak when the union brief was finished.

In his reply, Mr. Clark made what amounted to a point-by-point denial of the union brief.

U.S. Develops Atom-Powered Airplane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert LeBaron, a government atomic specialist, predicts the United States will have an airplane driven by nuclear power in six or seven years.

LeBaron is chairman of the military liaison committee to the Atomic Energy Commission but he devotes most of a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report to a discussion of peacetime uses of atomic energy.

He does say, however, that work is proceeding on development of an atomic-powered airplane, on a somewhat longer schedule than the nuclear submarine due for testing this summer.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver recorded its 41st domestic gas death of the year during the week-end when Francis J. Benoy, a 62-year-old instrument repair-man, was found dead in his room.

5 of Family Die in Flames

Nova Scotia Couple, 3 Children Victims; Two Flee Home Fire

LIVERPOOL, N.S. (CP)—A 39-year-old man died Sunday—Father's Day—along with his wife and three of his children as he tried to lead them to safety from their burning home.

The body of Tom Wills was found with that of one child he was apparently trying to lead to a window and escape.

A young eyewitness said earlier Wills had arrived after the fire started and rushed into the flaming house. But later it was learned that the man who ran into the house was a volunteer fireman who spotted the blaze as he came home from work and attempted a rescue. He was not injured.

An electric hotplate which had been left on and had burned through its stand was blamed for the fire.

Wills was the father of six children.

TWO CHILDREN ESCAPE

He died along with his wife, Phyllis, 34; Sharon, 10; Gray, eight, and Freddy, seven. Two other children, Dennis, 13, and Stanley, 11, escaped through a first-story window, and a sister, Patricia, nine, was spending the night at a neighbor's home.

Fifteen-year-old Celia Delaney, who lives nearby, said she was awakened at 2.30 a.m. by the cries of her cat. When she went to the door to put him out, she saw the flames spouting from the Wills' home.

Screaming an alarm, she ran half-clad toward the house. She said she could hear the children trying to break through the windows. She helped smash the glass and assisted them out.

Firemen said the "house was a mass of flames when they arrived."

"Some of the neighbors said they heard screaming."

Stanley had a cut knee from the jagged window and his hair was singed. Dennis was unhurt.

An inquest will be held.

Saanich Residents Work on Park

Twenty community-minded people of Saanich, including 10 'teen-agers, turned out Sunday for a work bee at Hampton Park, where a 24x16-foot shelter is being constructed.

Next Sunday another bee will be held to complete the structure, says Wally Gray, recreation council publicity chairman.

Much cleaning up of the park area was accomplished Sunday and next week painting will be done.

Unions Demand Unity Against New Labor Act

Speakers at Nanaimo Meeting Claim Trade Groups Penalized

NANAIMO (CP)—A call for full support of any labor group which runs afoul of the law under terms of the new Labor Relations Act was issued here Sunday at a meeting of Vancouver Island labor representatives.

The 40 delegates also urged that a vigorous education program be launchel to instruct rank and file labor on the terms of the controversial act and point out where it conflicts with the interests of labor.

Jim Barton, president of the B.C. Trade Union Congress, proposed that fewer amendments be offered to the act than in the past, and that these be pushed with greater vigor.

The speakers included George Home, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor and former Labor Relations Board member; Bob Casey, of the Standard Railway Labor joint legislative committee, and R. M. Strachan, CCF member of the legislature for Cowichan-Newcastle.

CHARGE DISCRIMINATION

Lawrence A. Jones, Nanaimo chairman of the Island local council, CCL, presided.

The speakers all condemned sections of the act, proclaimed last week, which they charged exposed unions to legal penalties from which employers were exempt.

They said the act also limited use of the strike weapon; exposed individual union members to legal penalties for participating in what might be ruled as illegal strikes; permitted the labor minister discretionary powers as to whether or not he would appoint a conciliation board, and made it possible for the minister to lay down terms of settlement which would have to be accepted by both employer and employee alike.

Mrs. Mowatt Top Winner In Rose Show

NANAIMO—A single bloom entry by Mrs. J. W. Mowatt, a "Paul's Lemon Pillar," won the grand prize Saturday in the first annual rose show held here by Nanaimo Ladies' Garden Club in the Legion Hall.

Second prize was won by Miss D. McCourt.

The show was considered an outstanding success in spite of recent cold weather that forced postponement of the show from June 9, and which was blamed for the lack of entries from Ladysmith, Duncan, Parksville and Qualicum.

Mrs. Ethel Douglas, president, said 155 entries, all from Nanaimo and district, were listed. Judges were Fred Parker, Westholme, and Mrs. J. Nicholls, Parksville.

Policeman Killed

Constable Kenneth Lennon was thrown at least 15 feet in the air to strike his head on another car 40 feet away.

ISLAND DIGEST

Shrimps Believed Possible New Product for Fishermen

CHEMAINUS—A shrimp that lacks sharp spines and appears to be especially suited to the restaurant trade has been found in waters near here by fisheries biologists T. H. Butler and H. E. J. Legare.

His proper name is Pandalus Jordani, but the biologists prefer the title "smooth pink" for every-day use.

The biologists feel that shrimp fishing might fill the need for off-season fisheries on the lower Vancouver Island coast.

They have found them between Lasqueti and Sangster Islands, Cape Lazo and Denman Island, and adjacent to Little River, Shearwater Passage and Bjerre Shoal.

Best catch of all was recorded in the Denman Cape Lazo area, south of Courtenay, where the maximum was 1,293 pounds per hour and the average 352 pounds, all at 40 fathoms. A yield of 25 pounds of shrimps per hour is considered as commercial fishing.

The scientists did their work from the Pacific biological station in Nanaimo.

The Cowichan Leader

British Columbia's new machinery tax will create a new burden for municipalities and their industries. North Cowichan will, however, be the single exception. It has been taxing industrial machinery for some years, under powers also available to other municipalities but unused.

The provincial government itself has been taxing machinery within its area, outside municipalities, for a number of years. The burden has been heavy but has been absorbed, with the result that some of the finest schools in B.C. are in unorganized territory.

Education is to be the beneficiary of this broadening of the tax base, under the government's policy. The cause is a good one. We must now work to see that this latest means of helping the cause does not prove as great a problem as the cause itself.

Comox District Free Press

The ultimate aim of the safe driving course for truck drivers, now being conducted here, is to have a traffic safety group that will encompass drivers of all kinds of motor vehicles and will, if necessary, provide educational facilities for them.

But in this, as in many other things, the cyclist appears to have been forgotten.

A cycle, improperly used, can be just as dangerous as a heavy truck. So many of them are improperly used that one is tempted to think that these riders have the impression that they have special privileges which permit them to ignore competely all manner of signs and signals without fear of accidents.

West Coast Advocate

A notable example of this "education for employment" principle is currently scheduled to begin at our own Alberni District High School, where optional courses in forestry next fall will be not only the first of their kind in B.C., but also one of the first large-scale attempts at providing young people with a knowledge of the industries which support the economy of their city or town and will in all likelihood provide their future employment.

Experts in both the educational and industrial fields are currently at work mapping out these courses to be of maximum usefulness to the student and the forest industries alike. Such a spirit of co-operation and community mindedness is most commendable and should be observed with interest by all education conscious persons in the province.

Parksville, Qualicum Beach Progress

On the scenic Island Highway at Bowser there is a viewpoint which has few equals in this section of Vancouver Island. A large paved square on the sea-front side of the highway, it provides all who pull in off the road with an excellent view of the sea, parts of Denman and Hornby Islands and other smaller islands in these waters.

Trouble is, however, that bushes just below the viewpoint have grown so tall in recent years that they partially obscure the view.

It would appear that these bushes could easily be cut down by the Public Works Department crew or by volunteers, providing they are not on private property.

Residents of Qualicum Bay-Bowser area might render the traveling public a valuable service by looking into this matter.

Auto Overturns in Crash With Truck Near Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Rolf Thomson, 19, University of B.C. engineering student of 6 Finlayson Street, Nanaimo, and George A. Jeffries, Qualicum, were involved in a freak accident Saturday night when they collided near North Wellington Saturday at about 9 p.m.

The car, believed driven by Thomson, and proceeding north, suddenly swerved from the road and headed toward the Crest Coffee Bar.

Jeffries, driving a light delivery truck, collided with the Thomson car as it turned, the car tipped over.

Thomson and his companion, 16-year-old Carrol Adams, 404 Harewood Road, were trapped inside the car. Miss Adams suffered an injured shoulder and shock, but was allowed to go home after examination by Dr. D. K. Foerster. Jeffries and Thomson were uninjured, but total damage was estimated at $600.

Jeffries lives at Qualicum, but conducts a dry-cleaning business in Duncan during the week. He was returning to his home for the week end when the accident occurred.

Drama Club Gives Script To Library

LAKE COWICHAN — Lake Cowichan Drama Club has received a letter from the UBC extension library stating its acceptance of the club's offer to donate copies of its recent production of "Gramercy Ghost."

At last month's meeting the club decided to offer the scripts, with the suggestion that other groups be encouraged to do the same. In this way, members decided, the library would be better able to serve the needs of play-reading groups throughout the province.

April 1 and 2 have been set as tentative dates for the annual spring production. During summer months members will read one-act plays with a view to selecting a suitable medium for a fall presentation of two one-act plays.

Douglas Parker was elected to represent the club on the executive of the Lake Cowichan PTA.

The club's season will end this week with a beach party Friday at Gold Park, Youbou.

GROWS IN "A TREE THAT UPLANDS"

by Maurice Hoganhumber

I stood on the tee, & gayly sliced off,
Where Walter Gravlin teaches golf.
The skylarks were warbling
high in the sky,
As usual my next a rotten lie;
I glared at my clubs, then again at the ball,
Then at those trees, spreading & tall.
To tap it out would be a breeze,
But I got that urge to soar o'er those trees.
(there's sumptin the matter with that line).
I reached for the niblick, then swung this plow.

It sure went UP, but we hit a bough;
"Hmmmmm," I kicked, but accepted the blame,
'Cause this is the way, I challenge this game.
I CAN'T tap it safe, as others do,
I MUST take that chance,
that I'd get thru.
It's the very same thing when
I try to putt,
I simply C-A-N-N-O-T . . . use
my nut.
I don't "line-it-up," or get on one knee,
I'd get so bawled up, I just couldn't see.
I just saunter up & let 'er roll,
So miles it goes beyond the hole.
Then back I zig, & back I
zag,
Till I pitch the putter in the bag.
Then as I mutter & clean my ball,
"Just WHY do the holes have to be SO small?"
As wide as a pail I'd like to see,
Is golf just for Hogan, or poets like me??
But again on the tee, I feel new zest,
Par springs eternal in my sweatered chest.
So I waggle my fanny, keep my eye on the dot,
It goes over the road in a neighbor's front lot.
So I hit another, brand new with white sheen,
A Hole-In-One . . . BUT ON THE WRONG GREEN!

U.S. Woman Makes Medical History; In Coma 6½ Years

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Ada Wrigley, widow of William Wrigley, Jr., baseball and chewing gum magnate, is making medical history, her doctors say, by keeping alive.

On Dec. 23, 1947, she suffered a stroke at her palatial resirence here. In the 6½ years since then she has never regained consciousness. Almost totally paralyzed, she is attended by six nurses, two on each eight-hour shift.

The Los Angeles Times Sunday quoted her Chicago physician, Dr. William G. Hibbs: "It is the medical miracle of my life and, so far as I know, is alone in the literature of medicine."

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)—A firm here is manufacturing a new-type circular saw which it claimed leaves no sawdust. The blade has only eight teeth, projecting 4-100 of an inch above the non-cutting edge.

Didn't Tell Parents She Rescued Swimmer

PERTH, Australia (CP) — When the Royal Humane Society awarded its bronze medal to 16-year-old Vanda Luganavicius that was the first time her parents learned she had saved a swimmer from drowning months before.

Vanda explained she kept quiet "because Mom got so upset when I rescued a woman from drowning two years ago."

Brooks Crowd Giants

Cleveland Increases American League Lead

Warren Giles' embargo on the $100 home run bonus came just in time to save Leo Durocher from an acute case of C-note shorts.

Take Sunday, for instance. Two Giant pinch hitters, Bobby Hofman and Dusty Rhodes, set a record by hitting pinch homers in the same inning of New York's 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Wes Westrum also homered in the sixth inning and Al Dark hit one earlier.

The Giants needed them. Their National League lead was sliced to a half game by Brooklyn's double victory.

The Dodgers again fell back on relief pitching to knock off Chicago twice 6-4 and 6-3, with Clem Labine bailing out the first game and Bob Milliken and Ben Wade holding the fort in the second.

For the first time since Sept. 6, 1953, Pittsburgh actually won a doubleheader. First the Pirates downed Milwaukee 2-1 in 10 innings when Lew Burdette hit Curt Roberts with a pitched ball with the bases loaded, then Gair Allie's three-run homer gave the Pirates the second game 6-3 over Bob Buhl. The double defeat dropped the Braves seven games out of first place.

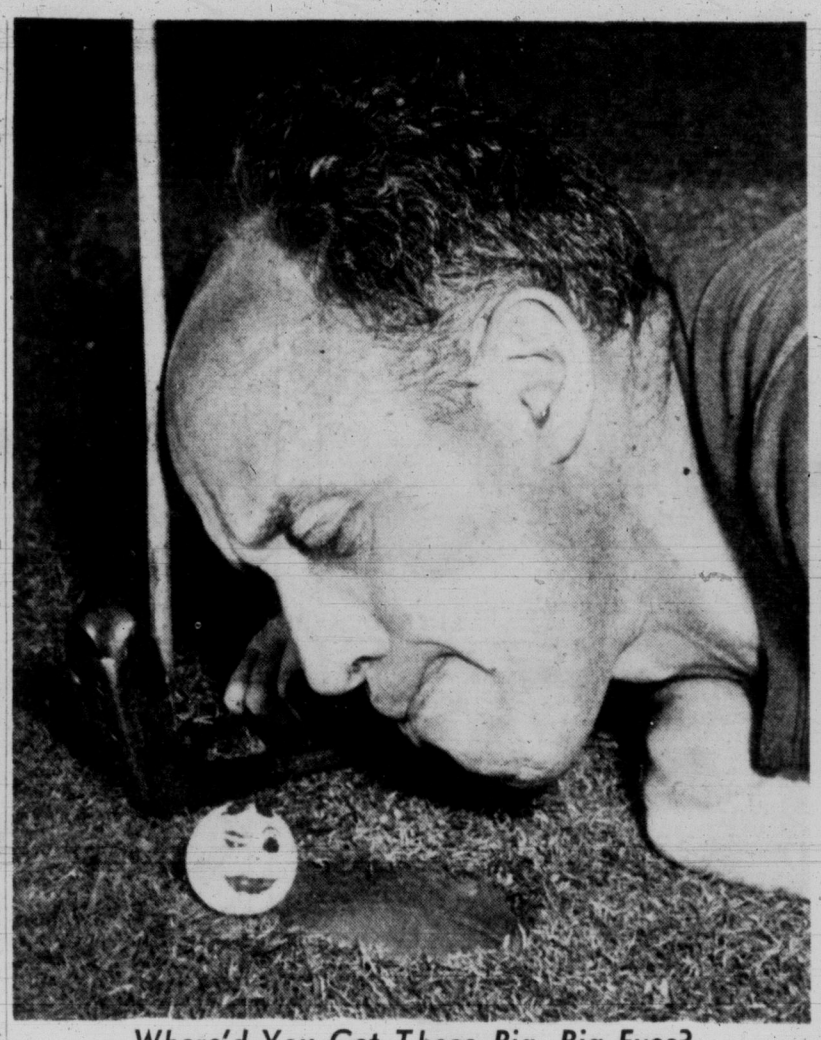
Cincinnati bumped Philadelphia twice 4-3 and 15-6, chasing their old teammate, Herm Wehmeier, as they scored nine runs in the first inning of the second game.

TRIBE ADVANCES

Cleveland hiked its American League lead to four games by beating their old Boston sparmates around the head 3-1 and 9-2, while New York and Chicago were dividing two. Bobby Feller's five-hitter and Art Houtteman's 10-hitter both had home-run help from Al Smith, boosting the Tribe's season record to 11-1 over Boston.

The Yankees managed 20 hits, including home runs by Bill Skowron, Gil McDougald, Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins in thumping Chicago 16-6 in the first game before 37,075 at Comiskey Park. Then Bob Keegan squared matters for the White Sox 7-3, becoming the first American League pitcher to win 10 games this year. Sherm Lollar's two-run homer in the seventh was the second game's big blow.

Baltimore's losing streak ran to eight straight when Washington's Connie Marrero and Dean Stone pitched the Senators to a double victory 7-1 and 7-2. A crowd of 17,149 boosted the Orioles' home attendance to 504,732 but the last place Birds were thoroughly booed.



Where'd You Get Those Big, Big Eyes?

Golf balls, on occasion, can have all the unpleasant traits of a disagreeable human being. Cyril Connerton of Queen's Printers makes his golf balls even more human by adorning them with facial features, the idea being that his ball can see it's own way out of the rough. Cyril was caught here, talking in a putt, during Sunday's Graphic Arts tournament at Colwood Golf Club. The face on the right belongs to Cy. (Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Indians Now Threat To Caps' WIL Lead

The Western International Baseball League's orphaned Spokane Indians, safely past one more financial crisis, are set for their toughest playing assignment.

After winning six of seven games against Edmonton and Calgary, the Indians visit Vancouver tonight for their first 1954 test of the league-leading Capilanos.

The Indians, who have played like potential pennant-winners since league directors took away their franchise and assumed operation of the club eight days ago, rang up their sixth straight victory with Sunday's 9-1 win over Calgary in the first game of a doubleheader. Calgary took the second game 17-8, leaving Indians in third place, 4½ games behind Capilanos.

The three-game Spokane-Vancouver series originally was set for Spokane but was shifted to Vancouver when league directors last week gave the Spokane committee an extra week for a drive to raise $40,000 needed to acquire the franchise.

The Spokane-Calgary doubleheader Sunday was one of four in the league. Yakima took both ends of a twin bill with Tri-City 10-7 and 12-4; Edmonton won 2-1 over Lewiston and lost 7-2; and Salem beat Wenatchee twice 8-7 in 10 innings, and 4-1.

Victoria Tyees, rained out at Vancouver Saturday, had an open date Sunday. They open a three-game series at Lewiston tonight returning home Thursday against Spokane.

Bud Closs pitched four-hit ball for Spokane as the Indians posted their sixth consecutive win in the first game at Calgary. The night-cap was a nightmare for the Indians as the Stampeders gained revenge for earlier trouncings. Three Spokane pitchers gave up 21 hits, including six home runs.

At Edmonton, John Conant limited Lewiston to five hits in the opener as he racked up his fifth victory of the season. Mel Wasley and Cint Cameron homered for Lewiston in the second game.

SEIXAS, TRABERT WIN HANDILY

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UP) —Defending champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, and tournament favorite Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, opened the all-England men's singles tennis competition today with easy triumphs over British opponents.

Seixas scored a 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 sweep over Geoffrey Cass, a varsity tennis player from Oxford University. Trabert was a 6-0, 6-2, 6-2 victor over Peter Wooler.

Robert Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., defeated G. L. Forbes of South Africa, 6-3, 7-9, 6-1, 6-3.

Fosters Gain On Leaders

Joe Fosters put two breaks together Sunday to climb closer to Tillicums in the Senior B Softball League race.

Fosters won their scheduled game by default when The Dons were unable to field a team and gained added ground when it was announced Federal Firefighters have dropped out of the league.

Tillicums have played one game more than the other teams with Firefighters and have had that victory taken off their win-loss record.

Pilseners Upset

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Halecos moved into the semi-final of the Dominion Challenge Cup soccer series on Sunday by defeating Vancouver Pilseners 2-0 in a hard-fought game at Balaclava Park.

Halecos now meet North Shore United, with Vancouver City and Firefighters playing in the other semi-final.

Bajus Captures Vancouver Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lanky Doug Bajus of Point Grey fired rounds of 70 and 75 Sunday to capture the city amateur golf championship with a two-stroke margin over his nearest rival.

Bajus was the only one in the field of 108 players to better the tough par 71 Marine Drive course with his morning round of 70. Clubmate John Russell was runner-up with a 73-74—147.

B.C. amateur champ Lyle Crawford was one stroke behind with 73-75—148.

Mainwaring Scores Century for Albions

By TONY BRISTOWE

Owing to rain, there was no play Saturday in the Victoria and District Cricket League, the two scheduled games, Oak Bay vs. Five C's, and Alcos vs. Cowichan, being postponed.

In the more congenial conditions Sunday, Albions scored a rather unexpected win over Incogs at Beacon Hill Park.

Their victory was almost exclusively due to a good century by Bob Mainwaring, who scored 104 not out in a total of 161 for 4 wickets declared. This was a splendid effort, and the first century of the season here. Mainwaring received good support from Clive Priestley, who kept his end up for a long period while scoring 19 runs.

Incogs started well enough, and Hyde-Lay scored a valuable 58. However, wickets fell steadily, and it was left to Goddard, after a shaky start, to become Incogs' main hope. Unfortunately no one could stay with him, and he was left undefeated at the end with 22 not out. Incogs total was 123.

It is worth noting, incidentally, that this total would have been high enough to have won most of the games played in the league so far this year.

As well as the league games scheduled for next Saturday, there will be a trial game at Beacon Hill Park Sunday, between the representative Victoria XI and the Rest. This is a preliminary to the inter-city game on Thursday, July 1 here.

ENGLAND GAINS SOCCER QUARTERFINALS

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—England and Hungary Sunday won their games in the world soccer championships and qualified for the quarter-finals.

England defeated Switzerland 2-0 in a scrappy game here while Hungary easily beat Germany 8-3 at Basel.

In other games Sunday, Italy beat Belgium 4-1 at Lugano and Turkey shut out Korea 7-0.

The Swiss must meet the Italians while Turkey plays Germany in playoffs to decide the remaining two quarter-final berths.

Yugoslavia, Brazil, Austria, and Uruguay advanced the quarter-finals on Saturday, eliminating Scotland, Czechoslovakia, France and Mexico.

England, which played to a 4-4 tie last Thursday with Belgium, got a goal in each of the halves of Sunday's games, Jimmy Mullen scoring in the 43rd minute and Dennis Wilshaw in the 70th minute. Both goals were individual affairs.

Furgol Takes U.S. Open; Hogan Five Strokes Back

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) —Ed Furgol won the 54th U.S. open golf championship with a 284 Saturday as the hopes of two young pros, Gene Littler and Dick Mayer, died on the 72nd hole.

Furgol had four steady rounds of 71, 70, 71 and 72 over Baltusrol's tough par-70 course to foil Ben Hogan's bid for a fifth championship.

The victory by the 37-year-old pro from Clayton, Mo., whose left arm is 10 inches shorter than his right, may well have signalled the end of the "Hogan era" in golf. Hogan, playing wretchedly, finished with final rounds of 76 and 72 for 289.

The 23-year-old Littler, a pro of less than six months after winning the national title last summer, came to the 545-yard final hole, needing a birdie four to tie.

He pumped a beautiful tee shot down the middle of the fairway. But his bold second shot for the green veered into a trap on the left of the green.

He pitched within eight feet of the pin and, while the huge mob held its breath, made his bid. The putt rolled two feet past, without a chance, and he got a five there for a par 70 and 285.

This gave him second place, a stroke ahead of young Dick Mayer and Lloyd Mangrum, the leatherly old touring pro from Niles, Ill.

Mayer, 29-year-old St. Petersburg, Fla., pro with the matinee idol looks, came to the 72nd needing only a par five for a score of 284. Instead he took a heart-breaking seven.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., finished in a tie for 13th place with Al Mengert of Mamaroneck, N.Y., Horvath had 75-72-71-73—291 to win $240 in prize money.

Sam Snead, who had been one of the favorites, shot a 72 and 73 on his final 36 holes to wind up with 290 and a tie with Cary Middlecoff for 11th place.

Furgol is 37 years old. As a boy of 12 in his native Utica, N.Y., he fell from some parallel bars and landed on his left elbow.

Doctors tried to save the arm with three operations but failed. Then he was advised to take up golf to exercise the limb or risk its amputation.

The arm is permanently cocked at the elbow, making Furgol one of the most unorthodox of all U.S. open champions. He is forced to stand close to the ball and chop into the ball viciously with his powerful right.

The pros regard him as one of the best swingers in the game despite his handicap.

Fleming Captures Mid-Island Title

It Was So Close

Competition was keen Saturday night in the annual Vancouver Island track and field championships at Victoria High School as leading athletes prepped for the British Empire Games trials in Vancouver July 9 and 10. Some 110 athletes competed and several records were shattered during the local meet. Here, Bill Parnell drives to victory and a new meet record in open one mile event by scant inches. Teammate Peter Harris (right) set the pace until Parnell came from behind to break the tape in 4.17.4. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Morrison Runner-Up At Nanaimo

Victoria's Bob Fleming Sunday added two more golf titles to a growing list of championships won.

Fleming, one of Victoria's brightest golf prospects, who recently returned from competing with the Canadian golf team in the British Isles, captured the Mid-Island and Zone One titles at Nanaimo.

The local divoter took the Mid-Island title with a 27-hole score of 102 and the zone championship with a 137 for 36 holes.

Veteran Bob Morrison, Victoria city champion, was runner-up to Fleming in both events.

He fired a 105 over 27 holes in the Mid-Island competition and a 141 in the 36-hole zone championship.

Murray Barber of Nanaimo took low net honors in the Mid-Island with a 93, while Gordie Whan of Duncan shot a net 96 to capture second low net.

Three Track Marks Fall

HAMILTON (CP)—A policeman, a school teacher and a university student set Canadian records at the Ontario track and field championships here Saturday.

Stan Raike, 31-year-old policeman from Toronto, tossed the shot 50 feet 9 inches, a quarter of an inch better than the previous record. The 230-pound officer trained throwing the caber.

A new mark in the women's shot put was set by Jackie Macdonald who made a throw of 42 feet 7½ inches, or two feet four inches better than the former record.

Ray Pella, Sudbury athlete now attending the University of Michigan, made a discus throw of 160 feet 6½ inches, three feet better than the former record.

Records Tumble In Island Meet

By RON COULTER

A large field of some 110 starry athletes were on parade here Saturday night.

And several records fell in the annual Vancouver Island track and field championships at the Gyro cinder track at Victoria High School.

The meet, co-sponsored by the Victoria YMCA and Victoria Daily Times, was easily one of the best such events ever held in Victoria.

When action concluded, two Canadian records had been established, two provincial standards lowered, 10 meet records shattered and two more were equaled.

Several additional marks might have been equaled or broken except for the slow rain-soaked track. About 450 fans braved the unfavorable weather conditions and all went home pleased.

Major honors were shared by Victoria Y's speedy Joe Haegart and Vancouver Y's three-mile star, Doug Kyle.

MIDGET MARK

Haegart, winner of the Victoria inter-high school junior track and field individual point aggregate championship recently, set a Canadian midget boys' 440-yard record at the time of 53.6, bettering the previous Dominion mark of 54.7.

Kyle, a UBC engineering student, paced himself beautifully as he cracked the former Canadian three-mile open record of 14.42.2 minutes, breaking the tape in 14.38.4.

The old three-mile standard was set by Victoria Y's Al Fisher in 1952. Fisher has since gone on to the Washington State Pacific Conference championship and the NCA title.

Haegart will be running again in the B.C. midget championships in Vancouver, but it is doubtful if funds will be available to send the speedster to the Canadian championships in Windsor on July 3.

Easily the top event of the night from a competitive view was the open one mile. Defending and British Empire Games champion Bill Parnell of the Vancouver Y retained his meet title by overtaking teammate Peter Harris coming home and driving to victory by scant inches.

Parnell crossed the tape in 4.17.4 minutes to set a new meet record. He formerly held the meet mark at 2.24.3 and was less than three seconds back of his 4.14.8 provincial mark.

DOUBLE WINNERS

Vancouver's Bruce Springbett ran well and breezed to wins in the open 100-yard and open 220-yard events. Ted Whan of Victoria Y also took two events, the open 440 and broad jump.

Whan was presented with the Joe Addison Memorial Trophy for his victory in the open 440 yards.

Victoria Y won the team event with 45 points, while Vancouver Olympic Club was runner-up with 43 and New Westminster followed at 28. Vancouver Olympic Club juveniles took that section with 46 points.

Emery Wins Mound Duel

Dave Emery pitched perfect ball for six innings, then gave up a walk and two singles in the seventh as he hurled Vic Van Storage to a close 2-1 victory over United Commercial Travelers in bantam league baseball action Sunday at Beacon Hill Park.

Emery was in fine form. No batter had reached first base until he issued the seventh-inning walk and then Ed Castner singled home Travelers' only run. Barry Williams followed with another single after two were out. Emery struck out 15.

Barry Harvey took the mound loss, giving up four hits, one a triple to Robert Gayton.

In other league action, Sidney all-stars and Hagels Chesterfield battled to a 7-7 tie. Terry Collins went the distance for Sidney, while Al Graham and Ricky Kelsall shared mound duties for Hagels.

GLADSTONE EQUALS PCL FIELDING MARK

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Granville Gladstone of the Portland Beavers Sunday tied the Pacific Coast League record for the most chances by an outfielder in a nine-inning game.

Eleven chances, all put-outs, came his way in centre field in the first game of a Portland-Sacramento doubleheader. That equalled the record which Lou Almado of the defunct Missions established in 1934 and Bob Marquis of Portland tied in 1953.

Gladstone played with Victoria Tyees last year.

Students Nip Fletchers Share Softball Lead

Chinese Students 6, Fletchers 3

Getting a break from the weather in Duncan, Chinese Students reached first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League Sunday.

Arrow Furniture were rained out at Duncan and Students knowing of that cancellation went all-out and with a great defensive display and timely hitting to defeat Fletchers 6-3 and moved into a tie with Arrows for first.

Fletchers and United Services are now in a deadlock for third place, two points in arrears.

The slumping Fletchers started Ken Gunter Sunday afternoon, but for the second time in a row he was chased. He went out in the sixth inning after Students had built up a 5-2 lead.

Fletchers opened the scoring in the top of the second when Ab Wiebe homered over right-fielder Bobby Lowe's head. Students got that one back in the last of the second on a double by Quinton Mar and two-base error by Fiori Goegan.

Two singles and an error produced two more runs for Students in the fourth, and they added two more in the fifth on singles by Wally Borgens, Eddie Lou and Dave Lowe.

THREATEN

Fletchers loaded the bases in the top of the sixth but only managed to score a singleton. In the seventh starter Wally Borgens of Chinese Students loaded the bases again on walks and, after a 3-1 count was reached on Ab Wiebe, Stan Tenning came on in relief.

Tenning lost Wiebe on the first pitch to force in a run but he got Goegan on strikes to end the inning.

It's "ladies' night" in the park tonight with United Services meeting Fletchers. Game time is 6.45.

Vancouver Island and the Gulf Island's crops will be down 2.2 per cent from last year, the department said.

Earlier this year, Okanagan growers estimated their loss would run as high as 80 per cent.

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Gas Shares Regain Some Lost Ground

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market had a lower look in light trading toward the final hour of trading.

Only junior golds were strong. Losses in the other groups were small.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains in heavy trading. Canadian Atlantic was up 20 cents, Pacific Pete 45 and Peace River 10.

Industrials were strong in agricultures, constructions, steels, financial institutions, and motors.

Senior base metals were firm but juniors were weak. Golds were steady in seniors and holding companies and weak in prospects. Uraniums were lower.

Gas Shares Hesitate After Early Rally

Western natural gas issues were hesitant on Vancouver Stock Exchange toward the noon adjournment. Earlier they had rallied from Friday's decline, on heavy buying, some of it reported to have come from New York.

Yankee Princess dropped 4½ cents to 44½ on 39,900 share volume, and at noon was 44½-45.

Trading 32,900 shares Van-Tor Exploration slipped a penny to 24. Noon quotation was 24-25.

Mid-West Gas moved 3,900 shares at 1.55, a drop of 5 cents. Noon quotation was 1.55-1.62.

Pacific Pete slipped from 7.45 to 7.30 on 2,600 shares sold, but was offered at noon at 7.10.

Peace River Gas dropped 5 cents to 3.90. Only 500 shares were sold. Noon quotation was 3.90 bid.

Montreal Mixed

MONTREAL (CP)—A mixed tone ruled the stock market in dull trading today. CPR was off ½ point.

Senior metals and banks gained strength while carriers, beverages and papers slipped downward. Miscellaneous industrials and steels showed a mixed pattern. Senior oils generally held firm.

Mines were mixed in featureless trading. A trendless western oil section saw Pacific Petroleum gain 20 cents but Calvan Consolidated was 45 cents softer.

Crisis in Guatemala Makes London Cautious

LONDON (CP)—The London stock exchange displayed caution today as a result of developments in Guatemala. The undertone remained satisfactory.

Industrials were noteworthy for a number of firm features, most of them the result of company statements.

Paper shares were firm and the golds were quiet in selective trading. Copper gained further ground. Other base metals were quiet.

Oils were mixed while rubbers and teas were steady without much change. Dollar stocks reflected a slight improvement on Wall Street.

CONCRETE CROSSES DIRECT OCEAN TIDES

Better Beaches Objective of B.C.'s New 'Sand Trap'

BY TONY DICKASON

A revolutionary yet simple and inexpensive method of trapping sand for beaches is being used by the parks and recreation division, provincial government.

It is the first time the method has ever been tried in salt water.

This is how it works: Big concrete crosses, five by four-and-one-half feet, are placed at strategic intervals along existing beaches. Incoming tides bring in sand; outgoing eddies are created by the crosses and additional sand remains on the beach. As well, the concrete slabs have a retaining power of their own.

The government started experiments at Miracle Beach, between Campbell River and Courtenay, some two months ago. Results to date, according to E. G. Oldham, forester in charge of the division, have been "highly successful."

The crosses, designed by the division's engineering section after two years' study of the problem, are placed about 25 feet apart. Where the tide comes straight in, they are placed lengthwise to the beach, and when the tide comes in at an angle, the crosses are placed at right angles to the current to boost sand-retaining power.

Crosses once placed must be left in position. If removed, sand washes out to sea again. At Miracle Beach, pure white sand is being trapped in large quantities. Some crosses are already half buried.

"We hope to work the sand up the beach just as high as we want with this method," said Mr. Oldham.

Government experiments are limited to Miracle Beach, as it is the only salt water beach within jurisdiction of the parks division. However, resort owners have begun to express keen interest in the experiments and there is strong indication the method will spread in use.

It has been used in Canada only once before, in fresh water. Experiments at Point Pelee, in Lake Ontario, have shown the concrete crosses have high sand retention even without assistance of swirling tides.

The B.C. parks division will be pouring more crosses this summer for use at Miracle Beach. The full story on results of the experiment will be known in about a year, when crosses have weathered winter tides and storms.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Isn't it time those photographers quit horsing around with my picture?

The following items are dedicated to members of AEMRN (Association for the Elimination of Monday and Replacing it with None-day).

Just asking for information: News story last week was headed "'OLD SWEATS' DENIED ALLOWANCE INCREASES."

This mean they aren't old enough, or didn't sweat enough?

Please be more explicit: Penny Saver, the shopping sage of the Women's page, reported the other day: ". . . . a big drop is seen in strawberries. Price this week is generally 35 cents a pound. Saw some priced a little higher, but the baskets seemed a little fuller, somehow. Guess you get what you pay for . . ."

Thirty-five cents for a pound weighing how much?

Want to unjoin the air force? A reckless constituent, recently returned from RCAF duty at Whitehorse, Y.T., 'phoned the the other day to tell what happened up there.

This young man, John McArthur by name, found time a little heavy on his hands, and instituted a twice-weekly disc jockey show on a strictly-Whitehorse Armed Forces broadcast.

Being a faithful subscribed to The Times, and, as aforementioned, the reckless type, he filled out the moments between discs by reading excerpts from Between Times.

By golly, it took the Air Force several months to get him out of there. But they succeeded.

Addenda to above: J. McArthur is now happily situated as an employee of Arnold's Bakery. Proving that close attention to Between Times will, sooner or later, get you in the dough.

Life is like that (in Hollywood): Jess Barker and Susan Hayward are battling in divorce court. And Jess has complained because wife Susan once extinguished a lighted cigarette by grinding it into his eye.

As an experienced husband, I would advise Jess to forget the whole thing.

After all, a wife has to have a few privileges around the house.

How cruel can fathers be? Elizabeth Hurlock, PhD, who answers problems a page or two from this location, has received a letter from a 15-year-old girl, protesting that her father doesn't like her going out with a boy to whom she is about to become engaged.

In reply, Miss Hurlock suggested the 15-year-old girl should break down her father's resistance by enlisting her mother's support.

And quite properly, too. What does the Old Man want to do, have his daughter an old maid at 16?

Don't go too far away. Tomorrow might be Tuesday—you never know.

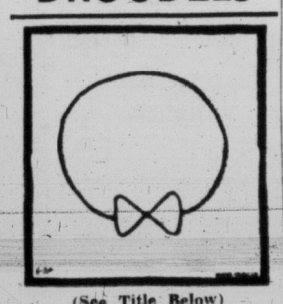
DROODLES



(See Title Below)

Butterflies are the Bums of the Nature World and are looked on with disfavor by more industrious creatures such as Horse Flies, House Flies and Fireflies. Butterflies spend all their time loafing, smelling flowers and scaring fat ladies. There's a rumor that they are of some use when it comes to cross-pollinating flowers, but I don't consider this work and besides it's not a subject which I think should be mentioned in a family newspaper.

(I feel there should be another title for this Droodle but I can't think of one. Anyway, why should I do all the work. YOU try to think up another title for a change. It's only fair.)

Strike Affects Few Fishermen In Victoria

Locals Notified To Start Picketing

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union ordered all B.C. locals to set up picket lines today with the start of an industry-wide strike of 6,000 salmon fishermen.

Homer Stevens of Vancouver, secretary of the UFAWU (AFL), said all locals have been sent telegrams advising them of the result of Saturday's strike vote, and instructing them to organize pickets.

The strike was called to back up demands for higher prices. The latest price offer made by cannery operators was rejected by the fishermen, with 93.3 per cent voting against acceptance.

Victoria fishermen are little affected by the strike, according to Willis Clarke, secretary of the UFAWU's Victoria local.

FEW BASED HERE

Only seiners and gillnetters are affected by the strike, and Clarke said: "Only about two boats that net fish are based here. Most of the boats based here are trollers," he said.

There is little hope for quick settlement of the dispute, although fishermen and representatives of cannery operators have scheduled a meeting for 3 p.m. today to resume negotiations.

Operators offered prices ranging from 21 cents a pound for sockeye to 5½ for summer chums. The union sought a price of 23½ for sockeye and 7¼ for summer chums.

Mr. Stevens said no salmon net fishermen will be allowed to leave home ports except in case of emergency, or extraordinary circumstances and that in such an event they will require a special permit from their local strike committee.

They saved his life Sunday after he sank unconscious and choked with water to the bottom of Beaver Lake.

Raymond Bell, 15, a Mount Douglas High School student in grade IX, and a Sea Cadet, was shivering in the cold wind that swept the float at the Beaver Lake Pavilion shortly after 2 p.m. A friend of Gary's was with him and said Gary wasn't a strong swimmer.

When Gary set out to swim to the float Raymond shouted to him, "Can you make it?"

ON LAKE BOTTOM

"He was splashing around—I thought that he was playing. I guess I turned away. Shortly after, Gary's friend told me that Gary was on the bottom. He must have been under about two minutes.

"There was about eight feet of water, but I could see his red trunks."

Raymond jumped in.

"Gary was out when I reached him. I grabbed the seat of his bathing suit. He was very light. I took him toward the beach.

"A man took him from me while I was still up to my knees in the water. They started to work on him."

EXPERT TAKES OVER

The battle for Gary's life was only begun though. That was when Leonard Mann, 32, of 1033 Burdett took over. He is a hospital orderly who could qualify as a male nurse. Recently arrived, with his wife, from Lethbridge, he is washing dishes at city club while looking for a job in a hospital.

Mr. Mann, who once drove front-line war ambulances, rocked back and forth urging air into the prostrate boy's lungs for half an hour before there was a slight response.

"He was just coming around when the firemen arrived."

FANNED SPARK

Saanich deputy fire chief Glen Robbins and fireman Harold Gains applied a resuscitator and fanned the spark of life that Mr. Mann had struck. After five minutes, they considered it safe to rush Gary to hospital.

Beaver Lake should have a lifeguard, Mr. Mann and Raymond believe.

"If these two hadn't been there my boy would be dead," said Mrs. F. G. Quick. ". . . they each deserve a medal."

Bike, Horse, Cars Figure In Accidents

Week-End Flurry Of Minor Mishaps

City and Saanich police reported a flurry of car accidents over the week-end but injuries were light.

Doris Taylor, 3075 Wascana, was discharged from hospital after treatment following a Saturday night collision at Lampson and Old Esquimalt Road in Esquimalt. Drivers were V. O. Stramaghan, 1302 Hastings, and Harold Ockenden, 2436 Central.

A bicycle and a horse figured in two other accidents.

Mary Vanek, 15, RR 2, Victoria, went to St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday afternoon after she was thrown over the handlebars of her bike. She is being examined for head injuries.

A severe leg fracture was suffered by Mrs. E. P. McMinn, 30, 3838 Saul Street, when she was thrown from a horse. Saanich police conveyed her to Jubilee Hospital.

Saanich Area Berry Pickers Go Into Action

Strawberry picking in Saanich began in real earnest today with the return of warm, sunny weather to South Vancouver Island.

The Federal-Provincial Farm Labor Service reported 75 girls and women were sent out to pick berries on farms this morning. Additional pickers may be needed at the end of the week when the berry season reaches its peak, FLS officials said.

The berry crop, which was retarded over two weeks due to cool weather and lack of sunshine, started to ripen rapidly Sunday following a heavy rainfall Saturday. Today tons of strawberries were picked for shipment to the Mainland.

Sally Ann Fund Goes Over Top

The Salvation Army Red Shield campaign surpassed its objective by almost $7,000 Saturday, 19 days after the target date.

A total of $36,987 was collected in cash and pledges.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, campaign committee chairman, thanked the people of Greater Victoria for ". . rallying around the 'Army' — especially in the past week."

It is the 10th year that the Salvation Army has reached its objective.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—The label on beer bottles says the beer contains more than 8% proof spirit by weight. Will you please tell me what "proof" means?—R.R.

A.—A statement given this column was: "Pure grain alcohol, also called absolute alcohol, is 175 proof. The words on the label mean the liquid in the bottle is more than 8 per cent by weight alcohol."

Q.—Many years ago when I was not yet 20 years of age I saw the English comedienne Alice Lloyd in the old Victoria Theatre. Can you tell me when that was?—F.G.T.

A.—The Victoria Daily Times of Jan. 6, 1914, said: "Not since Mischa Elman (violinist) and Adeline Genee (famous classical danseuse) were here last winter has a Victoria audience been so completely carried away by a performance as to arise en masse and cheer, but last night the big variety show featuring Alice Lloyd and Frank Fogarty caused this phenomenon, and the rafters of the good old house which has harbored so many a delightful entertainment rang with the sound." The show played the nights of Jan. 5 and 6.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrum.

Dig Tulips Each Year—This Is the Week

BY HILDA BEASTALL

The last week of June is the time set by the bulb division of the Experimental Station at Saanichton for the digging of tulips.

It is fortunate that the period for ripening of tulip foliage is shorter than that for narcissi. We may at least have the tulip leaves out of the way before they become completely unsightly.

With fungus diseases so prevalent among the tulips of this area, it is really necessary to dig them every year. In this way, the bulbs may be checked for disease, destroyed if any be found, and dipped before replanting. When dug, a healthy bulb will retain its dark brown jacket and be firm to the touch.

If the foliage remains attached to the bulb do not forcibly remove it, but lay the plants in shallow boxes, or trays, for drying in an airy shed out of sunlight. All foliage which is detached should be burned, for it may contain spores of the disease called "tulip fire", if the disease is in your area.

Curing of the bulbs takes place during the summer months, after they are quite dry in the trays and the final foliage has been removed. For small quantities, I have found it convenient to place each variety into a square of old curtain material. The corners knotted loosely, the bundles were hung where a circulation of air would reach them all summer.

According to your accommodation, this may be an open spot beneath steps or the back porch; hung from the basement rafters if the windows are usually open; or in an open-sided shed where sun will not strike them.

Translucent European China In Styles to Mix or Match

By PENNY SAVER

Fine, translucent and highly-glazed European china that you can actually mix or match . . . imagine! That's the truth. The seven styles—some plain, some patterned—are specially designed to lend variety to your table.

There are two basic designs: the charcoal, which shows the plain charcoal color on the outer sides of the pieces, features an undecorated white in the insides of cups, topmost side of plates, and so forth. It is so plain, it's stunning!

The other basic is plain, completely undecorated white china. Alone, it is smart; mixed with the charcoal, it is terrific.

The other five styles are a variety of patterns on white backgrounds. "Grey Fern," a pattern whose name is description enough, can pal off with either the charcoal or white, with equal attractiveness.

"Script," a charcoal scroll design, and "Gayety," a bright-hued floral design with charcoal bows, are both patterns which also combine pleasingly with either the charcoal or plain white.

The last two patterns are ones which would look best mixed with the plain white china.

"Silhouette" is a flower and leaf design in golden brown tones and "Bird Cage" is a modernistic pattern of blue, green and red cages holding odd canaries. Doesn't seem like much in print, but this pattern should prove to be one of the most popular, for it is so unusual.

The china ranges in price from $6.95 to $13.95 for a five-piece place setting.

Take it from me, this china, made by master craftsmen, is something you'll value for years to come. You'll never tire of it, and if given proper care it will last and last.

The high glaze assures protection from grazing and the clear, crystal ring of the china means it is completely free from flaws. What's more, it's chip resistant!

Private and Professional Lives Should Be Separate

By ELIZABETH R. HURLOCK, PhD

A man's family life is not an obstacle to his professional success—unless he allows it to affect his professional ability. The woman who wrote the following letter is taking a narrow view of this matter.

Hurlock

(Q) "My husband has an older friend, a lawyer, with whom he often has lunch. This man takes care of all the legal business for my husband's business, and he is a very fine lawyer. But I am worried about what people will think if they discover that this man divorced his first wife because she was unfaithful to him and now he is remarried to a woman who is said to be unfaithful also.

"People say: 'Tell me who your friends are and I'll tell you what you are.' We have never met his wife and we do not go with them socially, but I am wondering what people will think of my husband for employing this man as a lawyer, and what they will think of my husband when they see him having lunch with this man."

(A) My guess is that no one will think anything at all about your husband's having lunch with a business acquaintance. Nor will it affect his business in any way to have the legal matters of the business handled by a man who has the reputation of being a very fine lawyer.

A man's profession and his family life are separate. If this lawyer were known to have affairs with other women, it might prove to be damaging to his professional reputation and might make people wonder why your husband engages him to do his legal work.

However, you don't even know that this man's wife is unfaithful to him. It may all be false gossip and ugly rumors put out by jealous people. The very fact that this lawyer divorced his first wife for being unfaithful to him would suggest that he has high moral principles. So why would he tolerate similar behavior in the second wife?

Forget these rumors and don't interfere with your husband's business affairs by insisting that he drop the friendship of this man or his legal services. People will not judge your business unfavorably unless he himself associated with a woman of questionable reputation.

For your copy of Elizabeth Hurlock's new 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems," send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Girl Not Born Pretty May Develop Beauty

The following is an excerpt from a reader's letter:

"Let's face it, Mrs. Lowman, when a girl is not born pretty she has a terrific handicap so far as attention from men is concerned. If she is born homely, she is really out of luck. Tell us what you think of this."

I think a lot of it. I think that in light of today's standards you are entirely wrong. In the past this may have been much truer, although even then personality had its innings. Of course it is nice for a woman to be pretty. It should make things easier for her and it does, in that she immediately attracts the attention of the opposite sex.

However, being a beauty can be a handicap whether you believe it or not. Too often the beautiful woman becomes spoiled. She expects more of others than she gives. She looks in rather than out. Then, too, it is the rare beautiful woman who has developed her personality and talents and skills. Too often she depends on her looks.

I cannot tell you how frequently I have seen homely girls and young women blossom out into fascinating women by early middle age. These women studied makeup and hair styling because they had to. They learned how to dress in order to bring out their style and personality. They learned to be good company, to dance well and play a good game of bridge, to be gay and understanding. Whether they did this consciously or because they subconsciously knew that they could not afford not to, I do not know. I only see the results.

No regularity of feature can make up for an expressive, warm, interested face — a face that gives you a lift. Many of the dearest faces we know and love are not beautiful or handsome faces by usual standards, but they are dear to us because of some quality we find in them.

Personality and thoughtfulness and verve are much more important than classic beauty. Then think of all the aids to beauty women have today, permanents, hair and clothes styling and makeup all play their part in creating the outer woman.

Nothing is more important to good looks than fresh air and exercise. Now that good weather is with us, don't let a day go by without taking at least a 15-minute stroll.

Many Opportunities For Women Doctors

VANCOUVER (CP)—The new president of the Federation of Medical Women of Canada says there is plenty of opportunity for women doctors today, but "they should have someone to look after their home affairs."

Dr. Rebt Willits of Vancouver was elected president of the FMWC at the annual convention held here in conjunction with the Canadian Medical Association meeting.

She was supported in this opinion by Dr. Mary Bennett of Winnipeg, retired president, and Dr. Lucille Barnhouse of Winnipeg, treasurer.

The trio also agreed unanimously that a wife is the one big advantage held by male doctors.

"Women like women doctors and feel they are freer to talk to them," she added.

Dr. Barnhouse, now retired, often had to ride a horse to make her rounds in England, when she practiced in a small town.

Saturday Morning Ceremony In Oak Bay United Church

Arrangements of pink and white peonies, syringa and weigela formed the floral background for the wedding ceremony in Oak Bay United Church Saturday morning, when Marjorie Elizabeth (Betty), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy C. Miller, 1782 Lee Avenue, became the bride of Charles Edwin Beek, son of Mrs. William E. Beek, 1955 Forrester Street, and the late Mr. Beek. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiated. Organ selections were played by Mrs. Vera Barclay.

The charming bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess-style afternoon dress of corded taffeta in bride's blue, accented with diamente at the neckline of the fitted bodice and having diamente buttons to the hemline of the softly flaring full skirt. Her small, flower-trimmed hat and gloves were of matching blue and she had a corsage of blush pink roses.

Bride Preceded by Her Four Sisters At Wedding in St. John's Church

A quartette of attendants, all sisters of the bride, preceded Catherine Dorothy Macdonald up the aisle of St. John's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, when she became the bride of George Ernest West, in a double-ring ceremony.

Gladioli and carnations decorated the church for the service which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macdonald, 400 Craigflower Road, with the son of Mrs. Irene LaPlante, South Burnaby, and George H. West, 1221 Carlisle Street, Victoria.

Canon George Biddle performed the ceremony and Frederick Chubb played traditional organ music. As the register was being signed, Miss Mary Findler sang "The Lord's Prayer."

A full-skirted ballerina-length gown of tiered nylon net and rose point lace over satin was worn by the attractive bride. The fitted bodice was covered with a jacket of the lace over satin, featuring a rolled collar and lily point sleeves. A coronet of orange blossoms held her veil of imported illusion, bordered with lily of the valley pattern, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Margaret McVie, wore a mauve ballerina-length gown of net over taffeta. Bridesmaids, Miss Beatrice Macdonald, Miss Norma Macdonald and Miss Dorothy Macdonald were gowned similarly in yellow, pink and green, respectively. White carnations formed their bouquets and bandeau headdresses.

Rowan Johnston was best man and ushers were Jack Wright, Jack Rogers and Tony Bishop.

At the reception, held in the Business and Professional Women's Clubroom, toast to the bride was proposed by A. C. Rabbitt. Receiving guests were the bride's mother, wearing a navy dress, white accessories and corsage of white carnations, and the groom's mother, wearing a navy dress and yellow roses, en corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. West left for a motor trip through the northern United States, following which they will return to live at 2914 Douglas Street. For traveling, Mrs. West donned a light Oxford grey tailored suit of wool worsted, white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

VICTORIAN ELECTED

Dr. Sydney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, has been elected president of the Association of Canadian Clubs.

Regional vice-presidents elected at the association's closing session in Winnipeg Saturday were: Mrs. H. L. Smith of Victoria, Grant MacEwan of Calgary, Ian Warren of Montreal, and Mrs. David Walker of St. Stephen, N.B.

Couple Repeats Vows in St. Mary's

Tall standard baskets of colorful spring flowers decorated St. Mary's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding ceremony of Helen Jeanette Stuckey, sister of Mrs. B. Hoddinott, 2191 Smythe Street, and Reginald Jeynes Potts, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Potts, 4521 Duart Road. Archdeacon A. E. deL Nunns officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, B. Hoddinott, the bride wore a strapless, ballerina-length gown of nylon net with appliqued flounces of princess lace. A jacket of the lace over satin featured a tiny, stand-up collar and lily point sleeves. A lace and nylon cap held her chapel length veil of embroidered illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Miss Eunice Stuckey, was maid of honor. She chose a strapless bouffant, ballerina-length gown of nylon with lace panels in melody mauve tone, having a lace jacket with three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a bonnet of matching flowers and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations.

Miss Judy Potts, sister of the groom was bridesmaid, wearing a similar gown in Vista blue with lace jacket to match. Her bonnet of flowers matched her gown and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Best man was Bud Collette. Ushers were Robert Murray and Neil Martin.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Hoddinott, and the groom's mother received guests at the reception held in the Cherry Bank Hotel. Mrs. Hoddinott wore a two-piece dress of bouquet blue peau de soie, with jewelled collar of ivory satin. She had a small lace hat, white accessories and corsage of white roses. Mrs. Potts wore a dress of pale mauve chiffon with mauve and white accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

J. T. Potts, father of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon in Washington and Oregon, Mrs. Potts donned a dressmaker suit of sunset cloud charmeen with navy and white accessories. She had a corsage of white roses. The couple will live in Victoria.

Plan and Design Important Factors In Small Garden

Rudolf Williams, guest speaker at social meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute, stressed the importance of a landscape plan on paper and a careful calculation of measurements to determine the types of trees and shrubs for planting in a small garden.

The general appearance of the neighborhood is improved if there are no fences or hedges facing the street," he said and then warned of the danger of lime-infested soil around recent construction projects, especially for rhododendrons and azaleas.

A question period followed. The speaker was introduced by Miss J. E. M. Bruce and thanked by Mrs. Gilbert Howland.

Mrs. Roscoe Myles presided and tea was served by Mesdames E. A. Palmer, M. Cowan, A. C. Wright and M. Bond.

He has found sweet rest at last."

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

By American bidding standards, East would not have an opening bid of two no-trump. Such a bid shows 22-24 points, and the East hand actually counts to only 20 points. The hand is taken, however, from a match played between the Americans and the English a few months ago, and the English are somewhat more adventurous in the opening no-trump bids than American experts are.

When the hand was actually played, declarer put up the jack of spades at the first trick and ruffed East's queen. When South then led a trump, East took his two trump tricks and led the ace of spades.

South ruffed again and led a diamond. East captured dummy's king with the ace of diamonds, cashed the queen of diamonds, and got out safely with a third diamond. South still had to give up a club trick and was therefore defeated.

South had three chances to make his contract and muffed all three of them. To begin with, he could have discarded a diamond at the very first trick, thus daring East to find a safe return.

After South actually ruffed the first trick and gave East two trump tricks, he could have discarded a diamond on the ace of spades. This again, would leave East without a safe continuation.

Opening lead—♠ 9

Even after South ruffed the ace of spades, he could have made his contract by running all of his trumps, saving in dummy the king of spades, two diamonds and three clubs. If East saved only two diamonds, he would be put in with his diamond tricks and forced to lead clubs or spades to the dummy.

If East saved three diamonds, South would cash the top clubs and put East in with a third round of clubs. East would then have to lead diamonds to dummy's king.

South must merely place every missing high card in the East hand as justification for the opening bid of two no-trump.

SKIPPER FOILS DEATH WHEN TOWBOAT SINKS

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Courtenay district man was rescued from the storm-tossed waters of Georgia Strait Saturday after his tug sprang a leak and went down so quickly he didn't have time to leap overboard.

W. H. Mudge of Royston was trapped in the wheelhouse when the 26-foot tug Finale went down half a mile off Vivian Rock near the northern tip of Texada Island.

"It happened so fast I didn't have time to jump," said Mudge, lone person aboard the tug. "I got through an opening at the back of the wheelhouse. Then I pulled myself free of the tug and swam to the surface before it hit the botton."

He was picked up by the Northland Navigation Company vessel Island Prince moments after he bobbed to the surface.

Prorogation Set Thursday

Huge Defense-Spending Program Before Commons Members Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today turns to a study of the government's big defense-spending program as the session's end approaches.

Before the House are expenditure estimates of $2,000,000,000 for the defense department, $40,000,000 for the defense production department and another $6,400,000 for civil defense in the 1954-55 fiscal year. A number of items of defense department spending already have been approved.

Today's program is part of a schedule outlined on Saturday night by Citizenship Minister Harris, government House leader. If members stick to the plan, he said, Parliament can prorogue Thursday night.

The work involves passing one minor bill and approving estimates of 13 departments, the cabinet and Parliament itself. Estimates in part of most of the departments involved have been approved.

Debate may prolong the session a day or two, however, even if the House sits late at night beyond its present daily sitting of 8½ hours.

Members, meeting on a Saturday for the first time this session, dealt with planned expenditures of the health and fisheries departments.

National health insurance was a major topic and members of all opposition parties supported their versions of it.

Health Minister Martin, however, said only one provincial government is prepared to adopt a federal-provincial health insurance program. He said later he was referring to Saskatchewan.

He read a statement of government policy, made last year by Prime Minister St. Laurent, that the Liberal government is committed to a policy of contributory health insurance, administered by the provinces.

UP TO PROVINCES

It was up to the provinces to work out plans, the statement said, and federal assistance depended on satisfactory agreements being made with the provinces.

Mr. Martin said the subject is being given close attention and study.

Stanley Knowles, CCF, Winnipeg North Centre, said health insurance has been a plank in the Liberal party platform since 1919.

"When is that commitment going to be implemented?" he asked. Health insurance should be put on a universal basis covering all Canadians if the cost were to be kept down.

Dr. William Blair, PC, Lanark, and F. D. Shaw, SC, Red Deer, criticized the CCF plan for national health insurance which they described as socialized medicine.

Dr. Blair said the agreement and good will of doctors must be obtained if any plan is to work.

Mr. Shaw said health insurance should stress the prevention of illness, not merely the financing of medical treatment after sickness. It should be based on the self-help principle, ensure freedom of doctors, nurses and hospital administrations, and be directed as close to the local level as possible.

George Hahn (SC—New Westminster) urged larger federal contributions for construction of hospitals.

MAN ALIVE AFTER 8 DAYS IN RAIL CAR

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—A 27-year-old man locked in a sealed railroad car for eight days was found alive but "dehydrated" when the car was opened here late Sunday.

He was identified by papers in his possession as Milford Alvin Fitzgerald of Seattle, Wash.

Officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad said Fitzgerald apparently had climbed into the car loaded with lumber in Washington State. The car then was sealed.

Tory Chief Criticizes Tax Pact

MOOSE JAW (CP)—George Hees, president of the National Progressive Conservative Association, says tax rentals paid by the federal government are "not adequate to meet the needs" of the provinces and municipalities.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative Association here Sunday, Mr. Hees outlined his party's policy on Dominion-provincial tax agreements.

"Upon forming a government, we will call a Dominion-provincial conference to discuss the re-allocation of tax fields to provide the provinces and municipalities with the sources of revenue they need."

When party leader George Drew was premier of Ontario, said Mr. Hees, the province proposed a tax distribution system "which would give the smaller provinces an even better deal than they now are getting."

Mr. Drew proposed that to avoid the advantage gained by the central provinces from the location there of head offices of banks, trust companies and other large corporation, all corporation taxes collected by the Dominion government would be distributed on the basis of business done in each province and paid to the provincial governments.

Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan advisor. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Loans.

Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1500; sometimes, more.

How quickly can I get money?—Sometimes in 20 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.

How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of time periods allowed for different amounts . . . from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and schoolteachers, special payment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.

Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $500 generally, yes; but remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.

Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare . . . often you'll "buy" more money at less cost at Niagara.

Is Life Insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less, are life-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.

How many ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans. 1. On cars, trucks, etc.; only owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.

Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are: to consolidate a group of small debts; to reduce large payments for car and truck repairs; to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow?—Yes, in Canada, 1 family in 4 borrow each year.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!
Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Torture Killing Probed

Mother, Children Burned to Death

FORT WILLIAM (BUP) — Police checked every settlement along a lonely rail line northwest of Port Arthur today for a clue to the maniacal killer who assauted a pretty 28-year-od mother, then tied her to a chair and left her to be burned alive with her two children.

Railway workers found Mrs. Hedwig Kopplin dying on the ground outside the flaming cabin. Later police found the charred bodies of her five-year-old son Reinhard and 10-month-old daughter Rita in the ruins.

Police believed the maniac reached the lonely home at Kelly Siding, 82 miles northwest of Port Arthur, by coming along the seldom-used rail line. The husband, Horst Kopplin, was working 200 miles away in Mine Centre, where he had intended to move his family next week.

They believed the killer assaulted the woman, then tied her to a chair and beat her on the head before setting fire to the cabin to hide the crime.

The children's bodies were so badly burned that police said it would be impossible to determine whether they were killed before the fire or died from the flames.

Mrs. Kopplin's hands were lashed behind her back and a burned fragment of rope was found around her neck. But after the flames burned through the ropes, she managed to stagger outside to die.

She was still alive when railwaymen who saw the flames found her, and police said the slayer might have been hiding in the bush watching at that time. But no search was made, and by the time police reached the scene he had time to get far away.

The Kopplins and their son came to Canada from Danzig after slipping into the United States zone of Germany.

"NOW DON'T KNOW"

The heartbroken husband said today, "I thought Canada was a wonderful country, but now I don't know—to do this to a defenseless woman and to children.

"I spent everything I had on this house to make a nice home for my wife and children. It's all so hopeless. You come out to Canada. You work so hard. You live like good people. You don't smoke, you don't drink. What do you get for it? Absolutely nothing.

TORONTO (CP) — Thirty-two violent deaths were reported in eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press compilation listed 16 deaths in Ontario, nine in Quebec, five in Nova Scotia and two in Newfoundland.

Landy Beats Bannister's Mile Mark

Sets Up Dream Race For Empire Games

By BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

John Landy of Australia today broke the world record for the mile and automatically set up the dream race of the century for the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

Landy ran the mile at Turku, Finland, in the time of 3.58.

The Australian thus becomes the fastest miler less than two months after Britain's Roger Bannister first broke the four-minute barrier in 3.59-4.

Landy and Bannister are both entered in the British Empire Games. The mile race at the Games takes place on August 7 in Vancouver.

Landy's time today was 1.4 seconds faster than Bannister's.

Landy also broke the world record for the metric mile (1,500 metres) when he was timed in 3.41.8 during the course of his mile run.

All records must be approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. However, in view of the ideal conditions for the race, the Finnish track authorities forsaw official acceptance when the feat is submitted for approval.

Landy's record was made in a race with Chris Chataway of Britain, the same runner who helped pace Bannister to his record run at Oxford.

'Stay Out Of Americas' Says Lodge

Soviet Veto Overcome At United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council Sunday adopted a French resolution calling for an end to the Guatemalan bloodshed after the Soviet Union vetoed a proposal to refer the matter to the Inter-American Organization for consideration.

The council approved the Brazilian-Colombian resolution to refer Guatemala's complaint of aggression to the Inter-American Organization by a 10-to-1 vote but Russia's negative ballot was ruled a veto and the resolution was killed.

The proposal by France's Henri Hoppenot, which was passed unanimously, also called on all UN members to refrain from aiding any participants in the fighting.

Russia's veto on the Colombian-Brazilian resolution was her 60th since the Security Council was formed.

The voting came soon after chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denounced Russia's support of Guatemala and told the Russians to stay out of the American hemisphere.

Despite Russia's veto, it appeared certain that the Guatemalan situation will come up at sessions of the five-member inter-American peace committee, an agency of the 20-country Inter-American Organization, which is made up of North, Central and South American states.

Canada is not a member of the organization.

The peace committee—made up of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Cuba and Mexico—was set up at the 10th inter-American conference at Caracas, Venezuela, earlier this year to deal with matters concerning peace and security in the Americas.

Lodge, this month's president of the 11-country council, spoke at an urgent Sunday session called by Guatemala to demand an investigation of the invasion of that Central American country by anti-Communist "liberation forces."

SEES "DESIGNS"

Blasting a Soviet announcement that it was going to veto a resolution proposing to refer Guatemala's complaint to the IAO, Lodge said the only reason for such action would be because the Moscow government had designs on the American hemisphere.

"I say to the Soviet delegate: Stay out of the American hemisphere," Lodge said. The packed gallery applauded and he pounded for order.

Lodge addressed the council after Guatemala charged dramatically that an American aviator, not identified, crash-landed in Mexico after bombing a Guatemalan town.

Later a Guatemalan delegation aide told reporters that two Americans were in the plane and they had come down in Tapachula, Mexico, where they were interned.

Dispatches from Mexico City said authorities there knew of no Americans landing from a bombing run over Guatemala.

Lodge vigorously defended U.S. Statte Secretary Dulles against charges by Guatemala that the state department was responsible for the invasion into Guatemala. He denied the charge.

NOT AGGRESSION

"The situation does not involve aggression but is a revolt of Guatemalans against Guatemalans," Lodge said.

Guatemala demaned the council send a fact-finding mission immediately to investigate air attacks and invasion of the country.

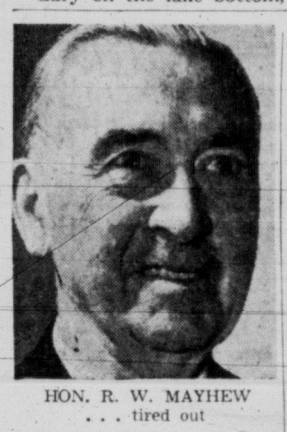
Semyon Tsarapkin, Soviet delegate, replied that Lodge had attempted to divert attention from the aggression. He said he could prove the aggression was provoked and armed by the United States. He added the Soviet Union feels the Security Council should act against aggression anywhere, even in Central America.

REBELS SET UP 'GOVERNMENT'

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP) — Anti-Communist forces today set up a rebel government for Guatemala in an unidentified captured city.

It's leaders issued a communique stating that the invasion of the country and the march on its capital at Guatemala City by forces under command of anti-Red leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, has overrun "several important cities" and is proceeding against little opposition.

The anti-Communist junta claimed no serious armed clashes have developed, because it commands the support of 90 per cent of the Guatemalan people.



HON. R. W. MAYHEW
. . . tired out

Mayhew Collapses

Strenuous pace of official duties as Canadian ambassador to Japan led to the collapse today of Hon. Robert Mayhew, and indicated that his long career in politics and government was close to an end.

Although his condition is reported as "not serious," an embassy spokesman stated "he needs several weeks' rest."

Mr. Mayhew had intended to retire in September and return to his home in Victoria. Hon. T. C. Davies, former ambassador to West Germany, has been named as his successor.

The veteran Victoria parliamentarian collapsed during funeral services for J. Del Castillo, Spanish ambassador to Japan. He is resting in the United States Army Hospital at Tokyo.

His son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Mayhew, visited him in Japan a week ago, and reported he looked "well but tired."

"He won't spare himself," Mrs. Mayhew commented today. "He insists on doing everything and going everywhere he's asked. He sets too hard a pace for himself."

5 Violent Deaths

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five violent deaths were recorded in B.C. during the week-end — three on the lower mainland. Four of the fatalities were accidents involving automobiles and the fifth was a result of domestic gas.

Tax Forms Not Secret Supreme Court Rules

Ottawa Loses Appeal Over B.C. Court Ruling in Vancouver Gambling Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today the courts can force the federal government to hand over confidential income tax documents.

In a unanimous decision, the nine-member bench rejected the government's appeal against a British Columbia court decision, ordering the government to produce income tax returns in connection with a Vancouver court gambling case.

The government had objected on the basis that tax returns were confidential. Making them public would prejudice the revenue department's attempts to get tax collections and honest statements from those who might be making their living from businesses which might be considered illegal.

Those who make tax returns have been told that they cannot be prosecuted because of statements they make in those returns. The government also argued that where a federal cabinet minister raises an objection to making a document public the courts should respect that decision.

The Supreme Court of Canada, whose judgment cannot be appealed, ruled that in connection with indictable offenses, the courts can order the government to produce requested documents.

No 'Sell-Out' In Indo-China U.K. Assured

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winton Churchill was told today that France will not agree to any disastrous "sell-out" in Indo-China, authoritative sources said.

They said that assurance from France's new premier, Pierre Mendes-France, was given Churchill by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in his report to the prime minister on Geneva conference developments.

Later Churchill called a special meeting of his cabinet to hear Eden's report on the Far Eastern conference and his talks with the French premier.

Bridge, Burial Meeting Set In Civic Strike

Officers of the striking Civic Employees' Protective Association were scheduled to meet with City Manager Cecil Wyatt late this afternoon to discuss provision of certain essential services affected by the five-day-old tie-up.

Ed. Duncan, secretary of the association, said the Johnson Street bridge question would be considered. It was learned from another source the matter of burials at Ross Bay cemetery was to be discussed as well.

There was no indication of the meeting going much beyond these subjects. City manager Wyatt said this morning he knew of no plans for talks on settlement. Mr. Duncan said today's meeting was primarily to discuss the bridge question but that his side would be willing to discuss any other matters which the other side might wish to raise.

Since the start of the strike last Thursday, the Johnson Street bridge has been operated on a limited hours basis by men supplied by E. & N. Railway.

The city wrote the union Friday to determine if it would be willing to provide a regular operator two hours each morning and two hours each afternoon until the strike terminates. The union was expected to give its answer at today's meeting.

$1,000 PRIZE AND AID TO SOLARIUM

First Swim Estimate Coupons Appear in Times on Tuesday

The game of estimating how long Florence Chadwick will take in her swim from Victoria to Port Angeles is one that everyone can enjoy.

First coupon in the contest will appear in the Times Tuesday. It will be repeated each Tuesday and Wednesday for the seven weeks before Flo makes her attempt.

Under the plan devised by J. Carl Pendray, president of British America Paint Company, co-sponsors with the Times of the swim, the crippled children at Queen Alexandra Solarium will be the beneficiaries of the contest.

A $1,000 award to the person estimating closest to the time Miss Chadwick will be in the water has been posted. In case of ties, of course, the jackpot will be divided.

This prize has no relation whatever to the donations which estimators will make to the Solarium. Every cost in the way of advertising, promotion, prize money and administration is being absorbed by Bapco and the Times. The Solarium Junior League has agreed to sort the thousands of estimates expected and in return will get every cent of donations for their continuing task of raising the necessary funds for the hospital.

No fixed amount has been set as to the donations that estimators will make. However, the junior league has agreed that anything over $1 will be acknowledged by receipt for income tax purposes.

Florence has given her whole-hearted support to the contest and has consented to make a personal appearance at the Solarium during her training period in July.

"I know the odds are supposed to be against me making the swim," she said. "I will give it the best I have and I feel I can condition myself to the cooler temperatures of the Strait. I think Mr. Pendray's idea of an estimating contest to raise money for the Solarium is a wonderful one."

Florence will arrive in Victoria July 1 and spend almost six weeks training for the swim which is tentatively set for the second week of August, depending on weather conditions.

Gittin' so nowadays, when y' hear there's a revolution in some country y' wonder which o' its neighbors is revoltin' against it.

Westcoast to Appeal U.S. Ruling on Gas

Westcoast Transmission Co. announced today it will launch an immediate appeal of the U.S. Federal Power Commission decision barring B.C. nautral gas from the northwest United States.

This was the latest development in the controversy touched off by the U.S. power commission's decision late Friday giving Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. a license to pipe gas from Colorado and New Mexico fields to Washington and Oregon.

Westcoast vice-president D. P. McDonald and president George McMahon, in joint announcement, said steps already have been taken to appeal the decision in a Philadelphia court.

B.C. government and industrial leaders, who were shaken by the commission's rejection of Westcoast, hailed the appeal announcement.

First reaction will be felt by Pacific Northwest, which will be forced to inactivity until the court hands down its ruling.

Mr. McMahon's firm contends the San Juan field, from which Pacific Northwest intends to draw its natural gas, "will provide only a trickle of the supply needed by the Pacific Northwest."

The appeal by Westcoast will also result in a suspension of any "go it alone" plans formulated by B.C. government officials.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett refused all comment on the pipeline controversy today. It was suggested Saturday by former premier Byron Johnson that B.C. enter into a contract with Westcoast so there would be no delay in gaining a gas-fired industrial development program for the province.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American chess team stiffened its resistance Sunday, boasting one win and three draws in the second round of its tournament with the Russian grand masters.

One second-round game — between 26-year-old Robert Byrne and the wily Russian expert, Alexander Kotov — still was undecided after 72 moves and hours of play. It was adjourned for the second time and will be completed Tuesday.

The one American victory so far in the second round was won by Larry Evans, youngest member of the U.S. squad. Evans, playing black, manoeuvred Mark Taimonov into defeat in 55 moves.

American Max Pavey lost for the second time to Paul Keres in a 57-move game.

Ottawa Loses B.C. Appeal

Income Tax Returns Not Secret Ruling in Vancouver Gambling Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today the courts can force the federal government to hand over confidential income tax documents.

In a unanimous decision, the nine-member bench rejected the government's appeal against a British Columbia court decision, ordering the government to produce income tax returns in connection with a Vancouver court gambling case.

The government had objected on the basis that tax returns were confidential. Making them public would prejudice the revenue department's attempts to get tax collections and honest statements from those who might be making their living from businesses which might be considered illegal.

Those who make tax returns have been told that they cannot be prosecuted because of statements they make in those returns. The government also argued that where a federal cabinet minister raises an objection to making a document public the courts should respect that decision.

The Supreme Court of Canada, whose judgment cannot be appealed, ruled that in connection with indictable offenses, the courts can order the government to produce requested documents.

John Landy of Australia today broke the world record for the mile and automatically set up the dream race of the century for the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

Landy ran the mile at Turku, Finland, in the time of 3.58.

The Australian thus becomes the fastest miler less than two months after Britain's Roger Bannister first broke the four-minute barrier in 3.59-4.

Landy and Bannister are both entered in the British Empire Games. The mile race at the Games takes place on August 7 in Vancouver.

Landy's time today was 1.4 seconds faster than Bannister's.

Landy also broke the world record for the metric mile (1,500 metres) when he was timed in 3.41.8 during the course of his mile run.

All records must be approved by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. However, in view of the ideal conditions for the race, the Finnish track authorities forsaw official acceptance when the feat is submitted for approval.

Landy's record was made in a race with Chris Chataway of Britain, the same runner who helped pace Bannister to his record run at Oxford.

REBELS SET UP 'GOVERNMENT'

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP) — Anti-Communist forces today set up a rebel government for Guatemala in an unidentified captured city.

It's leaders issued a communique stating that the invasion of the country and the march on its capital at Guatemala City by forces under command of anti-Red leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, has overrun "several important cities" and is proceeding against little opposition.

The anti-Communist junta claimed no serious armed clashes have developed, because it commands the support of 90 per cent of the Guatemalan people.

Long Ride Ends

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Buddy Dyer, a blind ex-boxer from Dallas, Tex., stopped a motorcycle endurance ride Sunday night after staying aboard for 212 hours and 40 minutes, a world record.

Dyer himself held the previous record of 175½ hours, set in Las Vegas, Nev., last November.

Suffering from fatigue and exposure after nine days and 2,268 miles, he was forced to halt the marathon by members of local motorcycle clubs. They had guided him around the track with whistled signals.

$1,000 PRIZE AND AID TO SOLARIUM

First Swim Estimate Coupons Appear in Times on Tuesday

The game of estimating how long Florence Chadwick will take in her swim from Victoria to Port Angeles is one that everyone can enjoy.

First coupon in the contest will appear in the Times Tuesday. It will be repeated each Tuesday and Wednesday for the seven weeks before Flo makes her attempt.

Under the plan devised by J. Carl Pendray, president of British America Paint Company, co-sponsors with the Times of the swim, the crippled children at Queen Alexandra Solarium will be the beneficiaries of the contest.

A $1,000 award to the person estimating closest to the time Miss Chadwick will be in the water has been posted. In case of ties, of course, the jackpot will be divided.

This prize has no relation whatever to the donations which estimators will make to the Solarium. Every cost in the way of advertising, promotion, prize money and administration is being absorbed by Bapco and the Times. The Solarium Junior League has agreed to sort the thousands of estimates expected and in return will get every cent of donations for their continuing task of raising the necessary funds for the hospital.

No fixed amount has been set as to the donations that estimators will make. However, the junior league has agreed that anything over $1 will be acknowledged by receipt for income tax purposes.

Florence has given her whole-hearted support to the contest and has consented to make a personal appearance at the Solarium during her training period in July.

"I know the odds are supposed to be against me making the swim," she said. "I will give it the best I have and I feel I can condition myself to the cooler temperatures of the Strait. I think Mr. Pendray's idea of an estimating contest to raise money for the Solarium is a wonderful one."

Florence will arrive in Victoria July 1 and spend almost six weeks training for the swim which is tentatively set for the second week of August, depending on weather conditions.
